DESTINATION VIET NAM

'Mothball' Refitting Aided By Marinite

A half dozen ships that did duty in another war have been taken "out of mothballs" and are being refitted in San Francisco to haul supplies and munitions to Viet Nam.

They are but the first of a supply fleet drawn from the "mothballed" reserve in Suisun Bay because of the United States' undeclared war in Viet Nam. They will be followed soon by four others.

It will be familiar duty to the once-proud vessels—the same kind they performed in World War II.

It will be familiar duty, too, to Paul G. Bates of 6 Salix Avenue, Woodacre, who is among the officers supervising the refitting and will sail as first mate of the Pan-American Victory.

Bates' vessel "should be finished with repairs next week," he said. Then she will get a sailing date.

CARGO NOT KNOWN

Bates said he does not know what cargo she will be carrying, but knows it will be military.

Saigon is not an unfamiliar port to Bates. He has called there aboard the Hong Kong Bear, a Pacific Far East Lines vessel on which he has been serving the past three and one-half years.

Bates began his sea duty in 1942 as a wartime cadet. During World War II he served as third officer and second officer aboard liberty ships in both the Pacific and the Atlantic.

He participated in the invasion of France aboard a transport carrying British troops. "We were sunk," he said. "It was our third time in, and we got sunk coming out."

SERVED IN PACIFIC

He served in the Pacific aboard a ship that participated in the invasion of Okinawa.

During the Korean War, he was on a ship that made runs to Pusan.

The vessels of the "mothball" fleet have seen similar service—all war service, for they are put away in reserve during peacetime. They will be operated by commercial lines under contract with the Military Sea Transportation Service, administered by the Navy.

BACK TO WAR—Rebuilt lifeboat is hoisted aboard the Pan-American Victory, which has been taken out of the Suisun Bay mothball fleet and is being refitted at San Francisco for war service to Saigon. Alongside is another of six such "demothballed" ships, the Berkeley Victory.

Negro Tells His Version Of Watts Rioting Arrest

Changes Plea To Innocent In Incident That Touched Off Riot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Negro whose arrest on a drunken driving charge the night of Aug. 11 triggered the Los Angeles riots has changed his plea from guilty to innocent and given his version of the incident publicly for the first time.

He is Marquette Frye, 21, charged with drunken driving, malicious mischief and battery. His brother, Ronald, 22, arrested with him, also changed his plea to innocent on charges of battery and interfering with officers.

Municipal Judge Mary E. Waters, before whom they appeared yesterday, continued the case to Oct. 1. One of their attorneys is A. L. Wirin of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Their mother, Mrs. Rena Frye, 49, has pleaded innocent and awaits trial on charges of interfering with an officer.

Marquette Frye told his story in a statement to the probation department, a copy of which was filed with Judge Waters.

He said his brother had just been discharged from the Air Force and they went to the home of two girls that day, had "a few drinks of vodka and orange juice" and were returning home about 6 p.m. when they were stopped by a motorcycle officer, apparently a California Highway Patrolman, at 116th Street and Avalon Boulevard, a half block from their home.

"The officer was very friendly, courteous and nice," Frye said. He said he told the officer he had lost his driver's license and also told him, "I did have two drinks many hours before."

Ten or 12 persons had gathered, by now.

"It appeared that the officer, who was very friendly, was letting me go, when a California Highway Patrol officer, in an automobile, came around to see what was happening," Frye continued.

"The new officer was very nasty and made some nasty remarks as he was passing me by. At this time my mother came down the street and she and the new officer got into words.

FRIENDLY CROWD

"The crowd so far was friendly and joking and ribbing the officers a bit; then when the officer in the automobile went to his car and got out a shotgun it infuriated the people and they started to yell at him and he yelled back and my mother said that she is my mother to the officer and the first officer then twisted her arm behind her back and seemed to lift her off the ground, and put handcuffs on her, causing her to cry and scream, due to the pain.

"The crowd then got boisterous and started to mill around and push in and were hollering to 'leave the old lady alone.'"

Frye said an officer swinging a night stick hit his brother "many times about the stomach area" and "one of the officers came up against me and hit me extremely hard on the front of my head, causing me to become extremely dizzy . . ."

Marquette Frye said he passed out, came to in the officers' car, then "I was then struck again and kicked and passed out and it seems a day or more passed before I knew what was going on."

CITIZEN'S COMPLAINT

California Highway Patrolman Lee Minikus said the morning after the arrest that he was investigating a citizen's complaint of a reckless driver, halted the car, arrested Marquette Frye and gave him a sobriety test which he failed.

Minikus said 20 or 30 persons gathered but things were peaceful until Mrs. Frye appeared, berated her son and then Marquette refused to submit to arrest. Minikus said Frye swung at him and Mrs. Frye jumped on his back and tore his shirt as the crowd swelled to about 200 and began shouting and cursing.

Minikus said a fellow officer produced a shotgun and finally they left the scene with the Fryes under arrest.

Senate Loses No Time In Adjourning For Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate met and adjourned in 2½ seconds today to get a fast start on a Labor Day holiday.

The session was a formality to meet a constitutional requirement which provides that neither branch in Congress may adjourn for more than three days at a time without the prior consent of the other.

The Senate will meet again Tuesday to start the drive toward final adjournment, hopefully by the end of the month.

Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., known as the fastest gavel in the Senate, banged his gavel and said: "Under the previous order, the Senate is now adjourned."

He rattled it off so fast it all sounded like one word.

A Senate clerk clocked the proceedings with a stopwatch.

Johnson Hopeful Of Steel Accord

Adviser Named To Help

WASHINGTON — The White House remained cautiously hopeful today that a settlement between representatives of the steel industry and the United Steelworkers Union would be reached prior to a strike deadline next Wednesday.

In a move to aid negotiations, President Johnson today assigned his top economic adviser to join in the stalemated emergency steel talks.

NAMES ACKLEY

He named Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, to serve as a statistical referee in the negotiations which are now in their fifth day.

Ackley would rule on any cost figures on management and labor proposals which have been in sharp dispute.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said shortly after 11 a.m. EDT that the negotiators had reached the discussion stage on "the last major, remaining economic differences between them."

The negotiators who didn't adjourn last night's session until nearly 1 a.m. EDT today resumed their talks at 8 a.m. EDT.

Moyers said Johnson was advised that the negotiators are "working hard and attempting to reconcile the differences."

EARLIER REPORTS

There were reports earlier that the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers had lowered its wage demands today for the first time since Johnson called the talks here Monday from Pittsburgh in an attempt to head off a crippling steel strike.

Informed sources said the two sides were about five or six cents apart.

The union reportedly had dropped its demand about 1½ cents to slightly more than 48 cents an hour in increased wages and fringe benefits over the life of a proposed three-year contract. The industry earlier had increased its last reported public offer by nearly three cents to about 43 cents.

Johnson told the negotiators yesterday there was no reason why they could not reach a settlement by Labor Day.

Cold Molasses Traffic Tie-Up

Two minor accidents, the commute hour, vacationers leaving a day early and swelling the traffic count, and street construction combined yesterday evening to make a mess of traffic in the San Rafael area.

Streets within the city were clogged at the end of the working day with cars creeping toward Highway 101, most of them northbound.

Southbound lanes of the highway remained free of congestion but traffic northbound was slowed to a turtle's pace from Corte Madera to north San Rafael.

Two accidents, at 4:30 p.m. and 4:55 p.m., one at Linden Lane and another at California Park on Highway 101, snarled traffic at the crucial home-going period. No one was injured.

Cars within San Rafael were further slowed by construction work on city streets.

Some commuters from San Francisco were more than an hour late returning to their homes north of Corte Madera.

Touchy Toucan Eats, Screeches And Hides

New facts came to light today about the toucan which has been loose in San Rafael for over a week.

It likes bananas but shuns hamburgers and the prospect of having its picture taken.

Today, Mrs. Raymond Thayer, of 86 Culloden Park Road reported the toucan had regularly perched at her second floor study window for the past three days.

It goes to a tray she has put out for other birds, gobbles up bananas whole, throws away the skins and flies to a nearby tree to screech its satisfaction.

But when an Independent-Journal photographer arrived, the South American bird had hidden. Not surprising, really—as the unusual bird has a huge beak almost as big as its body.

When the toucan was reported flying around the home of Mrs. Rollie E. Barton of 26 Forbes Avenue last week, a young man named Norman Hudson of 319 G Street claimed it belonged to him.

But his efforts to entice the noisy bird into its cage with hamburger proved unsuccessful.

Employment Rise Tied To Viet War

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The stepped-up Viet Nam war is being reflected in above - average employment in California shipbuilding, air and water transportation, according to a survey released today by Wells Fargo Bank.

These three defense - related industries are showing employment increases of 6 to 12 per cent, as compared with a year ago, and in contrast with the state's non-agricultural average gain of 3 per cent.

However, the bank study added, the war has not caused any major upsurge in defense and defense-related jobs in California, as was the case in the Korean War when, at its peak, employment doubled in California

The bank noted that ordnance manufacturing decreased the past year and now is leveling off.

Labor Day Warning Is Issued

The long Labor Day weekend begins with the exodus from work this evening.

Heavy travel is expected on the last weekend of the summer. The National Safety Council figures nearly 87 million motor vehicles will be on the streets and roads at one time or another during the three-day period. It expects between 500 and 600 persons to die in traffic accidents between 6 p.m. today and midnight Monday.

Public offices and business places will be closed Monday. the Independent-Journal will publish as usual.

Low Jobless Rate Pleases President

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson said today the national unemployment rate, holding steady at an eight-year low, showed "particularly gratifying" job strides for Negroes and teen-agers.

In a statement about the 4.5 per cent August figure, matching the July level and "maintaining the lowest rate since October, 1957," Johnson noted that "the uninterrupted progress of our economy continues in its 55th month."

Russians Put Five Satellites Into Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today put five sputniks into orbit around the earth from one carrier rocket, Tass reported.

The Soviet news agency said the five satellites were of the cosmos series, carrying scientific instruments for space research but no humans.

Fairfax Man Hurt In Fall

C. H. Weatherford of 165 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, was taken to two hospitals after he fell downstairs at his home last evening, then was sent home.

The Fairfax Fire Department's resuscitator unit was called when Weatherford was knocked unconscious by a fall down a flight of stairs. By the time firemen got him to Marin General Hospital, however, he had recovered consciousness.

From the Marin General emergency room, he was sent to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco. But there, he was merely treated for shoulder bruises and sent home.

Mrs. Colby

Shaker Heights Police Chief Carl Longstreet said Mrs. Mariann Colby, 40, admitted she held the gun that killed John Cremer Young Jr., 8, in her home Aug. 24. She insisted the shooting was an accident.

The chief said Mrs. Colby signed a statement yesterday refuting an earlier one in which she had contended her retarded son, Dane, 9, accidentally killed the Young boy.

She told police she was carrying the revolver in one hand and some laundry in the other and that the weapon discharged when she dropped the laundry.

DeLong Ruby Is Recovered

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Multi-millionaire John D. MacArthur yesterday bought the irreplaceable 100-carat DeLong ruby back from the underworld.

The ruby was stolen from the museum last Oct. 29 by three Miami "beach boys." Convicted of the theft were Jack Murphy, Allen Kuhn and Roger Clark.

Wolden Asserts He Is Innocent

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco Assessor Russell L. Wolden declared he is innocent of charges filed against him in an indictment by the grand jury investigating the acrimonious property tax scandal.

RUSSELL L. WOLDEN
Indicted Assessor

Wolden was to be arraigned today on nine counts of accepting bribes and one of conspiracy before Superior Court Judge Norman Elkington.

The indictment against Wolden contained the first criminal charges filed following a statewide investigation of the business transactions of tax consultant James C. Tooke of Castro Valley.

Wolden was charged with accepting bribes on five occasions from Tooke and four times from others. One of Tooke's former employees accused the consultant of paying employees in assessor offices for preferential assessments for Tooke's clients.

"I gave no favors and accepted no bribes," said Wolden yesterday when he surrendered to police.

"Of course this is a terrible ordeal," he told newsmen. "But I will fight these charges all the way and I expect complete vindication."

San Francisco Mayor John F. Shelley said he would consult with the city attorney on whether Wolden should be suspended from office.

Wolden said he had no intention of resigning and said he planned to be a candidate for the office in 1966.

He was released on $27,500 bail.

Wolden was charged with taking bribes from Tooke; Joseph Arditto; Lawrence D. Benamati, a lawyer; George Frank Picetti, vice president of G. Armanino & Sons, Inc.; and A. Joseph Rallo, divisional vice president of Diamond National Corp.

Wolden has been assessor for 27 years. He was appointed to the job in 1938 when his father retired because of ill health. He has been returned to the office by voters every four years since then.

India Claims Two Pakistani Jets Downed

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India claimed its forces shot down two American-made jet fighters flown by Pakistani pilots in fresh fighting that erupted in southwest Kashmir at dawn today.

One Pakistani F86 Sabre Jet was shot down in aerial combat and another was hit by Indian ground fire and crashed in Indian territory, a Defense Ministry spokesman said.

He also charged that Pakistani jets strafed a Moslem mosque near the town of Chhamb at prayer time today.

He said seven planes strafed the Moslem house of worship in the Jaurian area and that 30 to 40 civilians were killed.

Guardsmen, Curfew Bring Calm To A City On Edge

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Patrolling National Guardsmen, an early curfew and a ban on liquor imposed calm on this Mississippi River bluff city today—the first lull since a Negro leader was hurt in a booby-trap bombing a week ago.

Guardsmen rode the deserted streets in jeeps. Bayonets flickered under street lights. Few cars were out. Curfew was 10 p.m. to 5 a.m.

The city has been on edge since a dynamite bomb last Friday exploded beneath the hood of George Metcalfe's parked car when he turned on the ignition.

Metcalfe was reported in fair condition.

Now that schools are opened, motorists should be alert in school areas and observe school area speed zone signs.

THE NEW GIRL IN SCHOOL—That is Teresa Corzo, 17, on the left. She is Sir Francis Drake High School's American Field Service exchange student for this school year. Here Teresa shows her "sister" for the year, Andrea Nelson of San Anselmo, how to don the type of hat worn by Peruvian girls in the mountains. Teresa lives with her parents, brother and sister in Lima, Peru. (Independent-Journal photo)

DRAKE EXCHANGE

Girl From Peru New In School

By STEPHEN COOK

The boys of Sir Francis Drake High School will have a treat in store for them when they return to school Sept. 14.

She is 17-year-old Teresa Corzo, new to their school and to this country.

Teresa, who normally resides in Lima, Peru, is Drake's American Field Service exchange student this year. For the record, she is a senior, with shoulder-length brown hair, brown eyes and a quick smile.

To date, her education has been gathered in Catholic girls schools in Lima. Asked if she will enjoy going to school with boys, she giggled: "Oh yes!"

Teresa will live the school year with Andrea Nelson, 15, a junior at Drake, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Nelson of 50 Forbes Avenue, San Anselmo.

Teresa left her brother, sister and parents in Lima a week and a half ago and flew with 70 other AFS exchange students from South and Central America to Miami, Fla.

From there, they traveled by bus across the southern part of the country, dropping students in their respective home towns for the coming year. By the time the bus rolled into San Francisco Monday night, only Teresa and 14 others were still aboard.

Teresa said she applied for the AS exchange last March because:

"I want to know the people, customs, and language of this country and I want to travel for—how do you say it?—travel for my culture."

Since she arrived, Teresa has been spending most of her time getting acquainted with her family. She and Andrea spent yesterday afternoon baking cookies for some neighbors and Drake students who were coming by to meet Teresa that night.

She does not yet know what classes she will be taking at Drake. She and her "family" will go to the school Tuesday, when Teresa will meet Principal Harold Allison and talk with her counselor about a course of study.

Peruvian schools are somewhat different than those here, she explained, Teresa started primary school at age 7 and after five years entered high school, where she is now in her fifth and last year.

Teresa will be with the Nelsons in San Anselmo until school is out in June. Then she will leave for a tour of the country with other AFS students, then home to Lima.

KIDS COME THROUGH FOR A CAUSE

Mill Road neighborhood children in Novato yesterday raised more than $25 for muscular dystrophy with a carnival and rummage sale they put on in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carrier at 2010 Mill Road. Heading the youngsters who set up eight games and sold popcorn, soda water and "rummage," were Robbie and Robin Carrier. Here Bobby Kanyuck, 4, and his brother Carl, 5, of 244 Coleman Drive, San Rafael, throw bean bags in one of the eight games.

Sinatra Jr. Travels Far For Fame

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Frank Sinatra Jr., well aware of the magic in his name, has traveled father than the Ranger moon probe to launch his singing career.

"During the past 2½ years I've learned how to sing . . . how to pack a suit case . . . and how to wait in line for cholera injections," said young Sinatra during a interview at the Flamingo Hotel where he was appearing.

Sinatra, now 21, launched his singing career unexpectedly in 1962 when he surprised the Elliott Brothers at Disneyland and asked if he could sing with them on stage. Within months he became the youngest person ever to receive individual billing on the Las Vegas "strip."

He traveled 274,000 miles with the new Tommy Dorsey band entertaining audiences in person and on live television throughout the world. This fall he returns to Japan with the band for a series of one - night stands.

"I figure that I havee traveled farther than from the earth to the moon in the last 2 years. It has taught me to think. When you're on your own you learn to think," he said.

Sinatra has struggled persistently to establish himself as an individual because of his full awareness of the magic in the name "Sinatra."

"I am an individual. But everyone reacts to the name Sinatra some good and some bad. My dad is a legend in his own time.e Someone aptly called him the original American troubadour. But I make my own decisions."

The brown - haired, brown-eyed singer begins work this fall on his first motion picture, "Adam,' 'in New York with Sammy Davis Jr.

He said time would shape his career goals. "But now they are hardly more than platitudes. People who dream of success and the glamorous life—its all platitudes."

"I'm playing it by ear, there is no need to hurry," he said. "I don't have the polish that some do in this business, but I'll match my background with anyone."

Latin Subversion Told In Report

By EDWARD J. MOWERY
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — A victim of the summer doldrums, the usually alert Senate Internal Security subcommittee has just released an extracurricular report on communist subversion of Latin America which has the experts wondering.

This 128-page opus, laboriously prepared over a three-year period by a "special consultative" committee of the Organization of American States, is a masterpiece of banality, serving—if anything—to bolster Latins' naivete in the face of wholesale, Castro-inspired revolutions, planned and under way.

The OAS report was first published by that organization apparently for Latin American consumption. Less than 65,000 copies were distributed for South America's 140 million citizens. It didn't exactly shock them into action.

But why did a Senate committee reprint the "study"? Adding to the confusion is a glowing introduction by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., subcommittee vice chairman, who cites the OAS report as an "expose" of international communism.

Here are some of the earth-shaking observations in the OAS report:

"Lacking sufficient numerical strength and without Soviet and Chinese Communist military forces close enough to this hemisphere to give them support, the Communists are dangerous only to the extent that they usurp the strength of others . . ."

(What about the legions of Russians and Chinese in Cuba? Missile pads? Are they dangerous?)

"The Communist parties of America are international in character and . . . subject to directives from Moscow."

Wow!

"Communism employs various . . . trickeries, conceals the truth (and) its final objective is to dominate the world. For all practical purposes, the Communist party of the USSR is the Soviet government."

This news will elate historians.

Castro, the "consultants" on OAS security explained, lulled Latin (and U.S.) skeptics into a stupor from 1948 until 1961 when the heroic "agrarian leader" publicly proclaimed his fealty to Marxism.

The OAS experts casually mention the 1948 Bogota Conference of American Republics, and fail to stress that Castro even then was a Communist ringleader in the terrible uprising—the "Bogotaza"—which killed scores of citizens, gutted the city and endangered the lives of high U.S. officials.

Eleven years later, drowsy Latin America leaders hailed Castro as a modern Simon Bolivar. This entire interlude is ignored in the OAS report.

Subversion in this hemisphere, the report continues, is analogous to "international Communism although . . . it waves the flag of the Castro regime." As for the latter:

"Actually, Castroism is nothing more than a collateral movement that obeys extracontinental . . . directives."

If Cuba "should persist in acts possessing characteristics of aggression," the OAS committee concludes, "member states (might resist) with armed force." With Communist revolutionaries crawling over Latin America . . . that would be just dandy!

In substance, the OAS report is outdated drivel.

By contrast, the same Senate Internal Security subcommittee published an enlightening, updated documentation in January on the alarming red penetration of Latin America. That 112-page report, replete with exhibits, pictured the methodical, Castro-directed strangulation of democratic processes south of the border.

This report deserves close attention. And a few days ago, the Pan-American Policy Committee in New York warned bluntly that insipient, Red-controlled revolts stalk every Latin American country . . . with Guatemala facing an imminent uprising.

"A strengthened force of Cuba-trained guerrillas," the group declared, "is already in the hills."

Johnson Discovers U.S. Ambassadors

By BONNIE ANGELO
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, with the executive branch in his pocket and congress in the palm of his hand, has discovered ambassadors.

The 100 or so envoys posted in Washington have suddenly come into the LBJ magnetic field. The president is turning the full force of his personality on them and they love it.

Six months ago the ambassadors were grumbling that Johnson's "y'all come" philosophy was directed at every group but them. Today they are surfeited with White House invitations.

The men close to the president insist that the interest is not new, it's just that the president has found new ways to show the interest. The diplomats, however, had not been aware that he cared, and are beaming at their new "in" role at the White House.

An ambassador from a Latin American country where U. S. relations have been strained gave this telling summary. In his nine months here he had been to the White House twice, for the formal presentation of credentials and for a formal diplomatic reception — until five weeks ago. Since then he has been invited by the president four times, each invitation reflecting awareness of his special interests. The ambassador's new appraisal of the president: "impressive."

The new attitude toward ambassadors seems to have started about six weeks ago, when the president with characteristic suddenness gathered up a group of African ambassadors for a supper cruise down the Potomac.

It was an off-the-record stag party solely to get better acquainted, and might have gone unnoted except for the rash of last - minute cancellations that plagued Washington's dinner hostesses that night.

During the pleasant hours on the river, aboard a yacht borrowed from the secretary of the navy, the president saw to it that he chatted with each ambassador alone or in intimate groups of three or four. The tactics were the same that Lyndon Johnson has used with marked success to establish rapport with a generation of senators, and more recently with leaders of business.

The goodwill results were so obvious that he set sail a week later with a group of Latin American and some European ambassadors, and there is reason to believe that he will work his way around the globe on these Potomac cruises.

The president has also begun looking for ways to bring the ambassadors into the White House sphere. Last week he commemorated the fourth anniversary of the Alliance For Progress with a full-scale ceremony in the East Room, complete with the red-coated marines band in the foyer and coffee in the state dining room. (With iced tea for those from non - coffee bean economies.)

The Latin American ambassadors had scarcely finished their reports on all this presidential attention when they were summoned to the White House again, this time to have pictures taken —as a group and individually— with the American president.

The Johnson method is to follow through with warm autographs on every photograph, which will be displayed in each embassy. And any politician knows that a picture on the wall is a vote on election day—or the ambassadorial equivalent, a predisposition to understand the U. S. point of view.

Along with the group courtships, individual niceties are shown. There were published reports that Johnson in times past put in telephone calls while his remarks were being translated to an ambassador presenting credentials.

Perhaps the resulting shock waves that went through the diplomatic community reached the president. At any rate, new ambassadors presenting credentials these days get prompt appointments and a fullness of attention that may leave them reeling.

The ceremony has been shifted from his office to the more flattering setting of the beautiful drawing room in the family quarters. At the most recent ceremony the new ambassador from Iceland was flabbergasted by the full turn out of press and cameras recording his self-conscious chit-chat. After the press leaves, however, the president now spends a quarter of an hour or more discussing matters of mutual interest to both countries.

A large measure of credit for the new approaches endearing the president to the diplomats is given, by those close to the operation, to protocol chief Lloyd Hand. When Hand was appointed to this ambassadorial-level post, the president asked him to come up with new ideas for working with the diplomats—and the upswing in diplomatic contacts at the White House shows that Hand's ideas are now in operation.

Redwood Club Shuts Down

The Redwood Club, luxury restaurant and cocktail lounge on the fifth floor of the Kaehler-Farrar Building, 1299 Fourth Street, San Rafael, closed its doors this week because of financial difficulties.

Gerald Boccignone of Ignacio, manager of the club and one of the principals of the corporation, said he believes the closing will be only temporary, as measures are being taken to secure new working capital.

The Redwood Club, incorporated as the B. K. F. Corp., opened in July, 1964. Principal shareholders are John Boccignone of San Rafael, his nephew Gerald, and property developers Reuben W. Kaehler and Jack Farrar.

Inmate Guilty Of Possession

A Marin Superior Court jury yesterday found David H. Collins, San Quentin inmate, guilty of possession of a sharp instrument last April 5. He will be sentenced Oct. 11.

Collins was convicted Dec. 10, 1962, in Los Angeles County of possession of narcotics.

Woman's Name Is Corrected

A 22-year-old San Rafael woman's name was misspelled in the report of her marriage license in Wednesday's Independent-Journal.

The woman's name actually is Barbara Joy Gazzano.

Estimates Due On Digging Well

Forgery Suspect Is Due Trial

Neil Whitney Halvorsen, 34, one of three persons charged in Marin Municipal Court with forgery of five checks, was brought from San Francisco County Jail to Marin County Jail yesterday for trial.

Halvorsen, of Reno, Nev., and Michael Lloyd Rainford, 28, and Daniel Raymond Leahy, 28, both of San Francisco, were charged with passing the checks —all under $50—in Mill Valley last April 22 and 23 to defraud Lynch and Sons Van and Storage Co. in San Francisco and the 2 A.M. Club, Mill Valley.

Rainford and Leahy pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court and are serving a year each in county jail.

A new cigarette vending machine, installed only last Tuesday in the laundry room of Eden Roc Apartments, 1 Eden Roc Drive, Sausalito, was reported stolen today.

Robert W. Sarnoff was named to succeed Engstrom as president of RCA.

Engstrom, 64, moves to the top executive spot to succeed Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, 74, who will remain as RCA board chairman. Engstrom also will assume the company's top administrative title of chairman of the executive committee.

Brandt Seeks Europe Unity

BONN, Germany (AP) — Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, candidate for chancellor of the opposition Socialists, said today that if elected Sept. 19 one of his first steps will be to seek new ways toward European unity and reform of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"With the French president (Charles de Gaulle) and other (Common Market) partners it will have to be clarified how European unity can be further developed," Brandt said in a statement released here.

Driver Injured As Auto Rolls

Mancebo was being checked at Marin General Hospital for back injuries. Passenger George Ford of Sausalito was unhurt.

Highway patrolmen reported the car was being driven from Sausalito to Mill Valley when it went off the sharp curve, rolled over and landed on its top shortly after 10 a.m.

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY

Quiet Beauty

for families of every faith

Ninety years ago, Marin pioneers set aside this lovely site as a final resting place for all faiths.

Since then, Mount Tamalpais has developed facilities to meet each family's preference. Here are lovely gardens, the Angeles Garden or Memory Chapel mausoleums for above-ground burial, Marin's modern new crematorium, and the Chapel of Light Columbarium.

If you haven't visited Mount Tamalpais, you are invited to see the beauty of its typically Marin setting. Our staff will be glad to answer your questions.

MARIN'S STATE FAIR EXHIBIT— This is the glimpse of Marin that will greet visitors to the California State Fair which opened in Sacramento Wednesday. The Marin County exhibit, a three-dimensional collage of Mount Tamalpais as a recreation area, carries quotation from naturalist John Muir "Climb the mountains and get their good tidings." Mrs. Marcelle B. McCoy, Marin Art and Garden Fair director, is shown seated at right.

Marin's Fair Exhibit Shows Tam Recreation

Marin County has entered an unusual exhibit at the California State Fair, which opened Wednesday in Sacramento: a three-dimensional, abstract collage depicting Mount Tamalpais as a recreation center.

The abstract rendition, which cost $3,500, concentrates on hiking and drama on Mount Tamalpais and has been entered in competition in the "recreation" category, reported Mrs. Marcelle B. McCoy, director of the Marin Art and Garden Fair.

The exhibit was designed and built by Charles Hoeppner, art and garden fair designer.

The collage was created by using 20 sheets of acetate, 16 feet long and five feet wide which were placed like screens, one in front of the other.

Vari-colored tissue paper was hung on these screens creating a three-dimensional rendition of Mount Tamalpais.

To the right of the collage there is a continuous color slide show depicting flora and fauna found on the mountain. Flower slide shots are by G. E. Compton of Orinda, and animal, insect and reptile slides were furnished by the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum.

To the left, there is a continuous color movie by the Mountain Theater Assn. featuring scenes from Mountain Theater productions.

On the outside panels are photos of hiking scenes and landscape on Mount Tamalpais by Marin Photographers including Don Worth, Martin Freidman, Cliff Ratenbury, Bob Braun and Ellen Bry.

A portion of the exhibit is bordered by a hedge of heather, of a type which is grown commercially on the mountain.

Sheriff Fined In Forced March

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Sheriff James G. Clark of Dallas County has been fined $1,500 by a federal judge who ruled Clark in contempt of court for taking 200 Negroes on a four - mile forced march.

The Feb. 10 march, coming near the height of a Negro voter registration campaign in Selma, was in violation of a restraining order issued in court here Jan. 23, U.S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas said.

The segregationist sheriff said he was doing his duty in the incident and trying to prevent a riot.

Enlistments In Military Jump

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voluntary enlistments in the armed services have jumped since President Johnson ordered a sharp boost in the draft, it was learned today.

Figures for August — the first full month since the President's action — indicate a gain for all the forces.

Marines reported a 20 per cent increase, the Army a 19 per cent rise. Both the Navy and the Air Force said they expected to go well beyond their goals for the month when final reports are in.

Missile Blast Drops Debris Over Center

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — Flaming debris from an exploded Thor-Agena missile bombarded residential areas and started brush fires near this West Coast missile test center, the Air Force reports.

Forty-one persons were taken to the base hospital yesterday but all were released after precautionary checkups, a spokesman said.

An enlisted man's wife, Mrs. J. P. Meacham, and her two children escaped injury when a chunk of metal ripped through their trailer home six miles east of the main base.

The mother and children, along with 38 fire fighters and air policemen, went to the hospital, where the family was treated for shock and the men were examined for fuel contamination and smoke inhalation, spokesmen said.

Officers said the errant missile was launched on an orbit shot and malfunctioned at an altitude of 30,000 feet. It was purposely exploded when it veered off course.

Mother Of Nine Is Stabbed To Death By Mate

OAKLAND (UPI)— An Oakland man stabbed his wife to death yesterday two weeks after he was released on bail for shooting another woman in an apparent attempt on the life of his spouse.

Charles Newton, 30, told police he killed his wife, Elizabeth, 25, because he believed she had been unfaithful. The victim was the mother of nine children.

Newton was arrested on the San Francisco - Oakland Bay Bridge shortly after his wife was stabbed to death in her home. He told officers he intended to jump from the span, but was unable to go through with it.

Newton was released on $550 bail Aug. 19, four days after he shot Elizabeth St. Julien, 19, in the shoulder in an apparent attempt to kill his wife. The two women were together at the time.

Antipoverty Funds

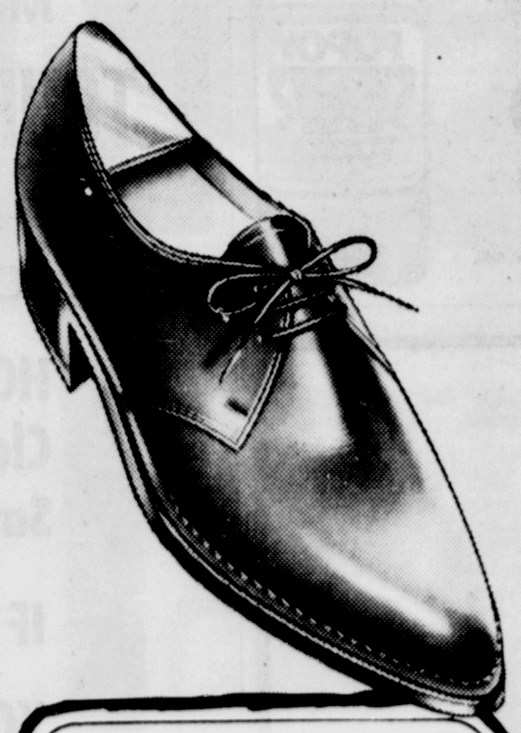

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $1,785,000,000 bill containing funds for the second year of President Johnson's antipoverty program is ready for final congressional action. Senate-House conferees worked out a compromise last night.

Soviet Buildup

MOSCOW (AP)—Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky said today the Soviet Union has strengthened its armed forces because of U.S. "interference" in Viet Nam. His order of the day to all Soviet troops gave no details on the buildup.

More U.S. Marines In Viet Landings

SAIGON (UPI)—Another 1,400 U.S. Marines equipped with helicopters began landing in Viet Nam today, swelling U.S. troop strength toward the 100,000 mark. In Saigon military spokesmen disclosed the last B52 raid cost the Viet Cong dearly in lives and equipment.

A Vietnamese unit which swept into the area pounded by the Guam-based eight-engine jet bombers in the 17th raid on Zone D 30 miles north of Saigon yesterday found no troops but reported they uncovered 90 Viet Cong bodies. They said other dead and wounded were carried away.

A U.S. spokesman did not confirm the Vietnamese report but listed huge quantities of Viet Cong supplies captured in the area, including 1,000 black Viet Cong uniforms and 126,000 rounds of small arms ammunition, quantities of other ammunition and grenades and a few rifles, machineguns and submachineguns.

The Vietnamese suffered no casualties in the cleanup operations but a U.S. Army UH1B helicopter en route to the operation was shot down seven miles from the landing zone. The aircraft burst into flames and crashed upside down with "heavy" casualties. There was no explanation whether it was carrying Vietnamese or U.S. troops or how many.

Leydecker Asks Action On Road

County Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker made a plea yesterday to San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini to see that there is no more delay in the city's signing a joint-powers agreement to develop San Pedro Road.

Leydecker wrote Bettini, asking him "to make certain that the agreement is acted upon" at Tuesday's city council meeting.

Earlier this week, City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen predicted councilmen "definitely will" approve the agreement at that time.

"Since it appears to me that the matter is being stalled," Leyrecker wrote to Bettini, "I thought it might be desirable to relate some background information to you."

Leydecker then set forth a detailed history of the past year's city-county discussions on developing the road, which winds in and out of the city limits of east San Rafael.

He recalled that supervisors agreed on a "more agressive program" early last year because the previous "rather loose agreement" for mutual development had not accomplished enough.

After approving a plan under which the county would contribute $1,250,000 in five years, supervisors had County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney and Public Works Director Donald R. Frost draw up a joint powers agreement for submission to the city.

Various delays followed, Leydecker noted, with the latest coming in May when city officials learned the agreement had to be approved by the state Division of Highways.

State approval, he said, came in June, but the agreement still was not signed, and Frost wrote city Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles Aug. 20 to ask the status of the situation.

Leydecker pointed out that the county has allotted a total of $400,000 for the work in two fiscal years.

"The county," he concluded, "is extremely anxious to move ahead as rapidly as possible."

Covered Span Destruction Is Rescinded

SACRAMENTO (AP) — "That was a terrible mistake," said a member of the State Reclamation Board, after learning that the body had voted to destroy one of California's few remaining covered bridges.

The board, two months ago, routinely agreed to build a new bridge across Butte Creek, seven miles east of Chico. The old bridge was to be removed to help flood control.

Then the complaints started to come and the board yesterday took the matter up again.

"You mean you'd remove a covered bridge?" board president Stanley W. Kronick of Sacramento asked assistant secretary Howard J. Sullivan, who had prepared the removal plan.

"I didn't know it was a covered bridge until the phone started to ring," said Sullivan.

The board rescinded its previous action and permitted the old bridge to remain if it doesn't interfere with flood control works.

Tiburon Fire Main Approved

The Tiburon Fire Commission last night approved placing 521 feet of eight-inch fire main on Main Street near Corinthian Island.

The $5,766 cost of the project will be shared equally by the fire district and the Marin Municipal Water District, Commission secretary James P. Jenkins said.

The main will connect with Belvedere lines and with a fire main to be installed by developer Fred G. Zelinsky for the building being rebuilt next to Tiburon Vintners.

More Detailed School Tax Study Urged

More detailed study of school taxes, perhaps conducted y the school superintendents themselves, was suggested today by Marin County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel.

Broemmel, noting disparity among various districts in the county on the amount of local taxes collected per pupil, said these figures should be related to the district's entire budget to get a picture of state and federal aid received by each district in addition to what is collected in local taxes.

He said this might help explain why a district such as Dixie spends only $253.60 per pupil in local property taxes while Reed spends $770.67 and Sausalito, $798.34.

Tax per pupil figures for Tomales High School District, not ready in time for yesterday's report of other districts in the Independent-Journal, were provided today by George R. Donaldson, assistant county auditor-controller.

Tomales High School District will spend $124.17 in local tax money per pupil this year, compared with $100.02 last year.

Freshmen To Study Fundamental Skills

When school starts at Terra Linda High School Tuesday, freshmen will start nine weeks of intensive study on fundamental reading and study skills, subjects which most people think of as ending when youngsters leave grade school.

The laboratory work, to be conducted on an individual basis, will be carried out under an $8,000 National Defense Education Act grant, one of several NDEA programs to be started this fall.

Its aims, according to Asst. Supt. Mitchell B. Voydat of San Rafael City Schools, are to improve comprehension, vocabulary, concentration and reading speed.

Also a target, however, will be specific skills which a student needs to get more out of mathematics, science and social studies. In the process, it will touch on such things as spelling and phonics.

English teacher Patricia Snyder, will direct the program. She and other teachers involved recently took a week-long course in Hawthorne, Los Angeles County, where the program has already been tried.

Students will be tested three times: at the start, at the end of nine weeks and six months after that. The first test will provide a diagnosis of each student which teachers will follow to set up his program of work.

To find out how much students' reading ability is related to skill in phonics, teachers will give each freshman a standardized phonics test. The test results also will show which students need intensive study in phonics.

Owner Spots Doughnut Theft

Two youths, 16 and 14 years old, were cited to the sheriff's juvenile bureau yesterday after allegedly stealing a 39-cent package of doughnuts from Colonial House on Main Street, Bolinas.

Bruce Guyette, owner, told sheriff's deputies the pair entered about noon yesterday and he saw one boy take the package, disappear, then reappear without it.

After one of the youths purchased a candy bar and they left, Guyette discovered an east window had been opened and the package tossed outside. He held the youths until officers arrived.

SQUEAKY VOICES

Twilight Life Cloaks Sealab

LA JOLLA (AP) — Two hundred feet below the surface of the Pacific, Sealab 2 is already beginning to look as if it belongs there.

The 12-by-58-foot steel cylinder, white when lowered to the bottom a week ago, now is gray with silt and literally crawling with small octopi.

Inside, the divers and scientists who still have more than a week to go before they return to the surface have adapted to their weird world so well they can hardly understand visitors from above.

Their voices and ears have adjusted to the high pressure helium atmosphere in their underwater habitat and they can understand each other's squeaky words with ease. But they have trouble comprehending the speech of topsiders whose larynxes and sinuses are accustomed to oxygen-rich air.

This picture of the dark and silent domain of the depths came in an interview with Capt. George Bond, Sealab 2 medical director, who swam down to sign up a diver whose enlistment had run out.

"It was midday and there was sunlight down to 150 feet," Bond said.

"Below that was a perpetual twilight. I stopped about 20 feet away from the habitat and looked it over for changes. It had already acquired the color of the ocean floor and was caked with marine growth and sediment. Baby octopi were crawling all over it.

"All around were fish, from six inches to two feet long, many of them curious about the light coming from the portholes.

"It was cold — 49 degrees fahrenheit. I felt chilled, despite my rubber diving suit.

"This was the view: Sealab 2 was on a slight incline, resting horizontally in its cradle on a ledge, with one end of the cylinder toward a submarine canyon that drops off rather sharply at that point.

"It hadn't shifted position — that's the way we placed it.

"All around, the sea floor was rolling and lumpy, like a blanket with rocks underneath. Sticking up here and there were fans of coral, with fish swimming in and out.

"I moved to the rear of Sealab and entered the anti-shark cage, took off my slippers and climbed up a ladder into the after compartment.

"That's quite a thing, climbing up from the water through the diving hatch. There are lights above the open hatch and the surface of the water above you is silvery like a mirror.

"You climb up and it's like Alice stepping through the looking glass when you emerge inside Sealab.

"The men were all glad to see me — they'd been down there since Saturday — but they could hardly understand me. My voice, of course, was not adapted to the helium they have to use because of the high toxicity of oxygen under pressure.

"It was good for a laugh, then we went on with the re-enlistment and I got out of there."

Comedian Sets Benefit Show

Comedian Godfrey Cambridge will give a performance at 8 p.m., Monday at the Marin City gymnasium, sponsored by the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

Proceeds will be used for civil rights projects in Southern states, according to Mrs. Don McCoy, chairman.

Cambridge is now playing in a musical, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," at Melodyland, Berkeley.

Airline Stewardesses Up In Air Over Age

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was faced with a pretty problem today — what to do about the airline stewardess who is told she is all washed up at 32.

The issue brought before a House labor subcommittee yesterday an unexpected aspect of the problem of older workers, which it has been diligently studying. The members immediately showed interest.

"Stand up please," Rep. James H. Scheuer, D-N.Y., asked the 15 stewardesses in the hearing room, "so we can see the dimensions of the problem."

The problem was presented to the subcommittee by Colleen Boland, president of the Air Line Stewards and Stewardesses Union, who said some airlines require their stewardesses to resign at 32 or 35 and take jobs as reservation clerks.

The congressman, to whom the problem of being 32 is no longer relevant, found it hard to understand why the airlines would do such a thing.

"A woman, like vintage wine, grows sweeter and more delectable with age and experience," said Scheuer, who is 45.

"The airlines should realize that they are not operating flying bunny clubs, but just another means of transportation," said Rep. William D. Hathaway, D-Maine, 41.

"How would members of Congress like it if they were told to retire and take jobs as postal clerks at 32?" asked Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., committee chairman, who is 39.

Sen. Kuchel Is Denounced As A Democrat

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles County Young Republicans' board of directors will be asked to adopt a resolution next Tuesday denouncing U.S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R - Calif., and urging him to switch his registration to Democrat.

The resolution was overwhelmingly approved yesterday by the Young Republicans' legislative committee.

It reads in part:

"Kuchel, by his own behavior, voluntarily resigned from the Republican Party and (we) will oppose his candidacy at all times regardless of" his political affiliation.

Kuchel, Senate Republican whip, refused to endorse Republican Barry Goldwater for president in 1964 and he also withheld support from U. S. Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif.

$4.7-Billion Education Bill Is Approved By Senate 79-3

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $4.7-billion higher education bill with funds for federal scholarships for needy college students has cleared the Senate by a 79-3 vote.

Sponsors of the far-reaching measure were astonished at the vote. Only three Southern Democrats, Sens. James O. Eastland and John C. Stennis of Mississippi and A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, were recorded against the bill.

It won the votes of 54 Democrats and 25 Republicans, while 15 of the absent senators were announced in favor.

The vote sent the legislation to conference with the House which passed it in different form last week. Managers say they are confident of an agreement with little difficulty.

The final version may exceed the first-year totals in both Senate and House bills. The House, sponsors say, probably will go along with Senate provisions to set up a National Teacher Corps and a program of grants to colleges to buy audio-visual equipment, while the Senate probably will accept bigger increases voted by the House for federal grants for college classroom construction.

The Senate scholarship plan, which closely follows President Johnson's recommendation, would provide payments expected to average $500 each to about 140,000 needy students in the first year.

The student aid section of the bill, which includes about half the money, also provides for insured reduced-interest private loans and for a work-study program to enable students to earn money for their education.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Yolanda Apostoli, Partner Open New Restaurant In Corte Madera

The Corte Madera restaurant of Yolanda Apostoli and her associate Philippa Denning-Kemp opened this week at 510 Tamalpais Drive in the Park Madera Center, and is on a seven-day-a-week schedule until it can be determined what should be the closing day.

Yo's Den, as it is called, is where Lucchesi's used to be, but the place has been completely done over and changed so you won't recognize it. As you might surmise from Yolanda's previous operation at the Embers, the menu has her specialty veal Paradisa, as well as veal scallopini, homemade ravioli and other such dishes. Its servings are, in fact, Italian—family style.

Yolanda shares kitchen responsibilities with Joe Moyle, and between the two of them you should come out well fed. This is Philippa's first venture in the restaurant business, and it is worthy of note that two luscious redheads are going in the Park Madera Center at the same time. The other one besides Philippa is June Costello, who is opening the Salon Monique beauty salon (formerly Park Madera Beauty Salon) next Wednesday.

Yo's Den is open from 8 a.m. to 11:30 at night for breakfast, lunch and dinner. Sunday hours are from 3 to 9 p.m. for dinners only.

THEY STILL need the microphone at San Rafael Joe's on Friday and Saturday nights, and on some other nights as well, to call out the names of diners waiting in line or in the cocktail lounge for tables.

But usually the wait isn't long. Frequently you'll carry your second drink to the table with you, sometimes the first if you just sip.

Year in, year out, Joe's goes on doing a land office business in feeding Marinites sumptiously, in spite of weather, politics and other new restaurants that open. I can't notice that much of anything causes the pace to slacken here—I doubt that it does.

For one thing, the name San Rafael Joe's suggests a place to be casual, and if you know your Marinites, this is bound to attract the many who are all for dining out if it doesn't involve making a dress occasion of it. Yet you can put on your best polish and not feel that it's being wasted—it's that kind of restaurant.

It's a place to order a filet mignon, lobster or plain spaghetti—or you can settle down to one of Joe's special salads and make almost a meal out of it. The fare is hearty and flavorsome, and the Rubini's and Farinas expect you to enjoy the act of eating over and beyond the purely functional urge of taking on nourishment.

I can honestly say that if someone asked me just how Joe's should be changed I'd have to answer, "Let it alone—it doesn't need anything." If you don't agree — well, there are other places in Marin.

Newest member of the kitchen staff is Ernest, a cousin of Hector, who notes that he's the only other Rubini in the county, outside of Hector's immediate family. He's from Buenos Aires. Young, Latin and good looking.

Most popular entertainer that's ever played in Joe's cocktail lounge, I believe, is Jean Denning, who's there now. The organ bar is a continual attraction for many. There's George who comes in nightly—often with a handful of bouquets for the ladies. And Doris, who is fond of singing English music hall ballads. Regulars will be sorry to learn that Doris is leaving the county to live with her daughter in Southern California.

Yes, Joe's is a hometown place, where almost everyone knows someone else who comes there.

If you're new in Marin, it's a good place to become acquainted.

SABELLA'S, always open on Mondays, will serve on Labor Day—but dinners will be from 1 p.m. Entire selection of about 200 menu items will be available.

FRANCHINI'S CHATEAU on the highway at Lucas Valley Road will reopen next Wednesday, Sept. 8, after being closed for vacations.

LE CHALET BASQUE out Santa Venetia way will be open on Monday, Labor Day, for dinner—same hours as on Sunday: 4 to 9 p.m.

Dinner menu here has these specials over this weekend: Tonight—the rainbow trout; tomorrow night—leg of lamb; Sunday—duck with an olive sauce; Monday the leg of lamb. Regular menu selections are also in effect.

PLAYING TONIGHT, tomorrow night and winding up its engagement Sunday at the Trident in Sausalito is the George Duke Trio. George plays piano; his support is Bob Hirshmin on bass and Pete Magavini at the drums.

I understand this group will play at the Ark (Charles Van Damme) when it opens its lower deck discotheque — probably about the middle of the month.

ACCORDING TO JIM VARCADOS, manager of the Ark, a definite date cannot be given for this opening. The bar is being made in the east and will be shipped out here—and the Ark hull will have to be painted. But already there is one exterior improvement noticeable — the parking area has been blacktopped.

Upper deck, the "Discodeck," will be opened at a later date.

FARALLONES EAST on Highway 1 near Calle Del Mar in Stinson Beach now has a general liquor license. Constance and Johnnie Walker have acquired a seasonal-type license (for the good weather months).

IT HAS BEEN STATED that when it comes to eating out, this country is moving in two directions at once.

On one hand, Americans are growing more sophisticated in their dining habits; they show increasing discernment in food and wine.

At the same time, there is a steady rise in the number of restaurants that offer quick service and depend on getting customers in, fed and out again—fast. Ready-to-use foods are becoming more common.

Whether this trend toward emphasizing snappy service of commonplace food will survive or be reversed is hard to say. Eating on the run is sometimes necessary and I have known some people who could not remember what they ate, 10 minutes after the meal was over.

But for most people, regardless of their individual preferences in food, a leisurely meal distinguished by excellent food and service still remains one of the all-time high points of civilization.

I don't know what the odds are elsewhere, but in Marin they are about five to one in favor of restaurants that try to make dining out something to remember.

AND SPEAKING OF ODDS, I am told that Cus Cousineau, who plays drums with the Dick Saltman Trio at the Cellars in San Rafael, has the highest rating of any jazz disc jockey in the state on radio. He is on KJAZ-FM from 3 to 6 p.m.

ENRICO'S, popular Italian restaurant in Fairfax, will be closed for a vacation (they need it here) from Sunday, Sept. 5 through the 13th. I know the kids will be disappointed—and maybe you will, too, but Enrico Croce is likely to get hardening of the fetuccini if he has to stand on his feet much longer without a break.

OUR BEST WISHES to Rico Blacow, owner of Rico's in Sausalito, for an early recovery from his automobile accident.

Two Organ Clubs Plan Concert

A joint concert featuring members of the Marin Hammond Organ Society and the Marin Baldwin Organ Club will be held Sept. 12 at 1 p.m. in the Fairfax Theater.

On the Hammond organ will be Miss Lee Lees, who is presently playing at Sabella's of Marin. On the Baldwin organ will be Larry Vannucci, who teaches piano and organ in Marin County and plays at the Harbor Lights in Tiburon.

About 15 years ago vacuum tubes served as memory units in computers. Then came transistors. Now microscopic electrical circuits printed on tiny chips of silicon do the job.

Marine Takes Affairs Position

Marine Maj. Genaro Huerta has been named head of the public affairs branch of 12th Marine Corps District headquarters in San Francisco and will make his home in San Rafael.

Formerly at Camp Lejeune, N.C., he replaces Maj. Ralph H. Brown in the post. Major Huerta will be in charge of coordinating the work of public information offices in a nine-state district.

He, his wife and three children have moved to 108 Oak Drive, San Rafael.

Stephen Duff Jr. Heads GOP Group

Stephen A. Duff Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Duff of 120 Deer Park Road, San Rafael, was elected president of the Teen-age Republicans of Marin Wednesday night.

Other officers elected were: vice president, Vance Montgomery, Fairfax; secretary-treasurer, Linda Iversen, San Rafael; and editor of the club newsletter, Prosper Rufer, San Rafael.

Next meeting of the Teen-age Republicans will be Sept. 15 in room 222 of the San Rafael Courthouse at 7:30 p.m.

A WILD WELCOME BY COOPER BOYS

Four Children Break Up Staid Homecoming As Astronauts Arrive At Space Center

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Four, small rambunctious boys turned a staid homecoming for the Gemini 5 astronauts into a wild, exuberant welcome for their famous father yesterday.

The unabashed joy of the roof-climbing Conrad boys seeing their daddy for the first time in about a month infected the others waiting to greet L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr.

Peter, 10, the oldest, was the first to jump into Conrad's arms. Andrew, 6, and Thomas, 8, who were barefooted because they had got their shoes wet wading through rain puddles, came hurtling through the air into their father's arms next.

Chris, 4, the youngest, tugged at his father's elbow until there was room for him, too.

Cooper's two teen-age daughters, Camala, 16, and Ranita, 15, acted with more lady-like restraint. But their pretty faces beamed at their famous father as they gave him hearty kisses and daughterly hugs.

Cooper gave his wife, Trudy, a long, wifely kiss next.

With his arms full of squeeling boys, Conrad still managed to give his pretty wife, Jane, a big kiss. This set the boys to laughing and pointing at the bright, red lipstick smear. Conrad rubbed the lipstick off to the delight of his sons and photographers.

Newsmen were told to stand back for a few minutes while the astronauts greeted their families in privacy. But with the Conrad boys' rush, the astronauts were soon surrounded by newsmen and well-wishers.

After telling about 200 persons who had braved the shower to see the astronauts at nearby Ellington Field how glad they were to be home, the astronauts got into separate station wagons for the ride to the space center about eight miles away.

U.S. PEELS OFF FUNDS FOR SEALS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government is spending $377,000 to find out what to do with 5,000 unwanted fur seals.

The Interior Department announced yesterday it has awarded a contract for the amount to a St. Louis fur processing firm to develop ways of creating more demand for the skins of seals it has caught in the Pribiloff Islands 300 miles off Alaska.

The company will use the money to find better ways to dress seal leather, develop more color variety and fashion new luxury products, the department said.

High, Low For U.S.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The highest temperature reported to the U.S. Weather Bureau yesterday, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 104 at Blythe and Imperial, both in California. The lowest temperature reported this morning was 37 at Greenville, Maine.

Prunes are now dried in about 24 hours by modern dehydrators.

Two Arraigned In Theft Of Corte Madera Pickup

Two persons were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of stealing a 1950 model pickup truck in Corte Madera. The case was continued until this afternoon for plea entry.

Fred Richard Jones, 18, of 251 Drake Avenue, Marin City, and Fern Christine Liggatt, 18, of 248 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, were arrested in San Francisco about 3 a.m. Wednesday with the truck registered to John Friend of 25 Rocklin Court, Corte Madera.

After San Francisco police questioned the pair, they called Friend and learned he had reported his truck stolen from the Union Oil Service Station at Madera and Tamalpais avenues and hour earlier.

Sgt. David McIntosh of Corte Madera police said Jones and Miss Liggatt had reportedly been stopped in the truck by Sausalito Policeman Donald Wall minutes before the vehicle was reported stolen. Wall advised the driver to have a rear tail light of the truck repaired.

Following arrest, Jones allegedly scuffled with two county jailers of the Marin sheriff's office and was placed in a padded cell Wednesday afternoon. Charged with resisting arrest and assault on Sgt. Joseph E. Mooney, chief bailiff, Jones was arraigned on these charges yesterday and the case continued also until this afternoon.

College Faculty Pay Hikes Due

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California state college faculty members have been granted a 10 per cent pay hike by the State College Board of Trustees following a three month delay.

The raise totaling $7.4 million was approved by the last session of the State Legislature.

The board said at its meeting yesterday the delay came from required cost estimates and certification of the availability of funds from the State Department of Education.

In spite of the raise, retroactive to July 1, board members expressed fear that a pay cut may have to be imposed on faculty members again as it was last year.

LITTLE LEFT OF STEERING WHEEL—Richard E. Beesley, 33, of El Cerrito, carried the steering wheel with him when he smashed into the windshield of this car as it slammed into another on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge yesterday. Although the car is equipped with seat belts, Beesley had not fastened his belt. Highway Patrolman Richard Topham inspects the mute evidence. (Independent-Journal photo)

Three Men Critical In Road Accidents

Three men were in critical or poor condition today with severe injuries suffered in traffic accidents on Marin highways yesterday.

The first occurred at 2:30 p.m. when a station wagon driven by Zannie L. Aubrey, 29, of Oakland went careening off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard on White's Hill. The vehicle rolled 150 feet down a steep bank. Aubrey was flung from it half way down.

He was in poor condition today at Marin General Hospital with head injuries, cuts and bruises.

The grinding crash of two cars on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge left one driver uninjured but the other, Richard E. Beesley, 33, of El Cerrito, in poor condition today at the same hospital with severe facial injuries, fractured ribs and fractured wrist.

The second driver, Lawrence F. Campbell, 30, of Oakland, told highway patrolmen that he was eastbound on the lower deck of the bridge at 4:45 p.m. when his car began to sputter and stall.

Campbell said he slowed to about 25 to 30 miles an hour, signaled with his hand and alternated the rear turning lights of the car.

The Beesley car smashed headon into Campbell's car from behind.

Highway patrolmen were not able to interview Beesley to get his side of the story, because of his injuries. Beesley was not wearing the seat belt he had in the car. His body broke the steering wheel and his head went through the windshield.

The third accident occurred when Danny M. Adams, 21, of Fowler, Fresno County, tried to cross Highway 101 at 8:35 p.m.

He and a friend, Roger Rigney, 17, of Battery C, Second Missile Battalion, San Rafael, Nike Site, had alighted from a taxi just north of the Lincoln Avenue overpass on the northbound shoulder of the highway.

The two ran across the northbound lanes and were waiting in the center of the highway to cross the southbound lanes.

Adams started to run; Rigney yelled for him to stop.

He was struck by a southbound car driven by Donald A. Raski, 20, of Fortuna, driving about 65 mph, highway patrolmen said.

Adams was in critical condition today with fractures of both legs, his skull, ribs, and right wrist, and internal injuries.

Pediatrician Nominated By Medical Society

San Rafael pediatrician Arthur R. Ablin was nominated last night for 1966 president-elect of the Marin Medical Society, which would automatically make him president in 1967.

The slate of nominees was presented to the society at its meeting last night. Members may submit other nominations between now and the Oct. 27 meeting. They will vote by mail in November.

Dr. Robert L. Mills of San Rafael, this year's president-elect, will take over the top post next year.

Other nominees presented last night were:

For secretary-treasurer: Dr. Robert F. Schell of San Rafael (incumbent). For board of directors (two vacancies): Dr. David Costanza of San Rafael, Dr. Jacques Couacaud of Novato (incumbent), Dr. Ward R. Johnson of Kentfield and Dr. Edward A. McCrum of Kentfield.

For delegate to California Medical Assn.: Dr. Elmer A. Weden Jr. of San Rafael. For alternate delegate (one seat) Dr. Joseph J. Alderson of San Anselmo and Dr. David F. Merten of San Rafael.

Radio Is Stolen

A transistor radio, valued at $40, was stolen from the cab of the truck of George Washington, 544 D Street, San Rafael, yesterday while it was parked outside 626 Lindaro Street, he told police.

Sandoval Due Hearing In San Mateo

San Quentin Prison inmate Jaime Enrique Sandoval, 35, yesterday was promised a new hearing in San Mateo County Superior Court to determine whether he has been cured as a sexual psycopath.

Sandoval figured in a baffling and complicated case involving the mysterious death of Mrs. Virginia Douglas in Puerto Rico in 1960 and the apparent suicide a month later of her husband, Donald A. Douglas in a car in Lucas Valley.

He was convicted Feb. 8, 1961 of lewd acts with the couple's teen-age sons, Jeffrey and Gary.

Yesterday, two psychiatrists retained by Sandoval told San Mateo Superior Court Judge Louis Dematteis that Sandoval has been rehabilitated. A San Quentin psychiatrist and psychologist, however, both disagreed.

If found cured, Sandoval could be sentenced on the 1961 conviction. If not, he will stay in custody.

Wednesday, in another department of the San Mateo court, Mrs. Douglas's will was filed for probate. Her $31,300 estate was split between the sons, Jeffrey, 19, and Gary, 16.

A previous petition by Sandoval for a new hearing was turned down two years ago.

Chamber Sets Membership Classification

A new membership classification was added to the bylaws of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce by the board of directors yesterday.

Employees of regular members may become affiliate members but will not vote on chamber policies, president William S. Thewhella said today.

Other membership classifications are regular members, who vote and may be elected to the board of directors, and associate members, who have no vote and cannot hold positions on the board.

George Butts, general manager of the Ross Valley Savings and Loan Assn., resigned from the board because of pressure of business responsibilities.

'Church' Leader Held For Having A Harem

NEW YORK (UPI)— A self-syled psychologist, metaphysician and theologian, who allegedly maintained an 11-woman harem in Brooklyn, was held on $75,000 bail today on kidnaping and assault charges.

Devernon LeGrande, a Negro ex-convict, was picked up at his "church" Wednesday where he lived with the women, seven of whom were pregnant.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward Panzarella charged that LeGrande, 41, "keeps his alleged nuns in locked cubicles, keeps a loaded revolver, and makes a home for 47 children—all his."

LeGrande, a nattily attired six-footer, modestly denied the allegation. He said he had only 12 children by one of the "sisters" of his "church."

Bernice Williams, 27, who told the court she had been one of LeGrande's habit-garbed group which went begging in the city, filed the kidnaping charge against LeGrande. The assault charges were brought by Ernestine Timmons, 28, and Betty Jane Davis, 26, both pregnant.

Criminal Court Judge John J. Ryan set Tuesday for a hearing for LeGrande and his son, Devernon Jr., 16, who attacked a detective with a dagger Wednesday while police were searching the premises for three missing women who may have been part of the "harem."

San Anselmo Girl Admits Forgery

An 18-year-old San Anselmo girl yesterday admitted signing her roommate's name on seven checks for $158 worth of shoes, clothing and food, Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani reported today.

Facing charges of forgery is Barbara Lee Gustafson of 25 Ancha Vista Avenue, Apt. 1, who allegedly used checks belonging to her roommate, Susan Tuttle, 20, for merchandise purchased in San Anselmo and San Rafael stores Aug. 16 and 20 while Miss Tuttle was in the hospital. She was booked at the county jail and released.

Miss Tuttle reported to police Aug. 24 that her checkbook had been stolen from her apartment. She reported the theft after the bank had notified her account was overdrawn.

Benefits Due Checks In October

New benefits will first show on Social Security checks going to Marin County residents at the beginning of October, Patrick M. Stevens, manager of the San Rafael office, said today.

He said an announcement yesterday that September checks would include benefits under provisions of the new Social Security Act was incorrect. It had been hoped to have the increase included this week but proved impossible, he said.

The act, recently made law, gives Social Security recipients a 7 per cent increase in regular benefits.

The provision was retroactive to January of this year. Increased benefits due the 12,000 Marin County residents affected for January through July will be mailed them later this month.

The Independent-Journal yesterday carried an article based on information received from the local Social Security office. Stevens said the article was correct except where it said September checks would include the new benefits.

Fire Station Contract Let

E. H. Chapman of Santa Rosa last night was given a $92,293 contract for construction of a fire station in San Marin by the Novato First District board.

Chapman was lowest of nine bidders with a base bid of $89,389. The board went over the alternates with Chapman last night and agreed on enough to increase the bid by approximately $3,000.

Construction is scheduled to begin Sept. 13, with completion next February.

'Plain Joe' Is Charged In Murder

DETROIT (UPI)— The lover of the blonde ex-wife of a Chinese nuclear scientist was rearrested today and charged with murder in her strangulation.

Homicide detective Charles Schlachter said the suspect, Victor Fassere, 36, offered no resistance when officers picked him up early today at his parents' home in nearby Dearborn, Mich.

"He was more or less expecting us," Schlachter said.

Fassere, 36, a divorced telephone company employee described by Schlachter as a "plain Joe" with no police record, was questioned most of yesterday about the slaying of Mrs. Edna Lee, 32, a vivacious beauty studying for a Ph D in English at a local university.

Mrs. Lee has been married twice, most recently to Jung K. Lee, a nuclear physicist whom she met at the University of Kansas where he was employed. They were married in 1958 and separated in 1961.

Unruh Blasts Court Remaping 'Bad Politics'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh last night called a portion of the California Supreme Court's reapportionment proposal "bad politics" and "bad government."

Unruh said the court's overall plan had "certain excellent features" but its provisions for at-large elections affecting 18 Assembly seats and 10 Senate seats were "bad politics for both parties and bad government for the people."

The high court Wednesday in San Francisco ordered realignment of both houses of the legislature by Dec. 9. It also offered its plan in the event the legislature fails to comply with the order.

Unruh pledged to make every effort toward the enactment of a bill on reapportionment.

Novato Chamber Budget Due $25,416 Expenditures

A budget for fiscal 1966 which calls for expenditures of $25,416 against income estimated at $25,480 was adopted yesterday by the Novato Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

Richard Nave, president, reported plans completed for a teachers' reception from 4 to 6 p.m. next Wednesday at the John Novak home at 50 Rico Vista.

James Adair was named to fill the unexpired term of Victor Barossi on the board of directors. Barossi, who managed the Bank of America branch at Hamilton Air Force Base, resigned when he was transfered to San Francisco.

Sept. 28 was set for the date for a public breakfast at which Assemblyman William T. Bagley will be speaker. The place will be selected later.

Bid For Landscaping Work Is Rejected

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The State Department of Public Works has rejected bids received Aug. 24 for landscaping one acre of roadside areas and installing an irrigation system at the Spencer Avenue overcrossing of Highway 101 in Sausalito.

The department said only one bid was submitted, for $19,163 by H.K.H. Landscaping, San Rafael, and it was too high.

Artists Get Ready For Sausalito Show

One hundred and twenty artists are scheduled to show their work in the Sausalito Art Fair, which opens a three-day run tomorrow at 9 a.m. on the Central School grounds in Sausalito.

Chamber of Commerce officials said the number of applicants set an all-time record.

A full program of art in action is set, with silk screen printers, weavers, jewelers, and others demonstrating how their work is done.

Over $500 in awards will be given by a three-man awards jury consisting of Maggie Hazell-Rozen, painter and president of the San Francisco Women Artists; Ned Pankin, watercolorist, and Dennis Beall, print maker.

Awards include a four-day stay for two at the Highlands Inn, Carmel, given for the best in show by FM and the Arts Magazine; the Spinnaker best seascape award of $100; $50, $30 and $20 by the Sausalito Foundation; City of Sausalito, $50; Sausalito Chamber of Commerce, $50; Tides Book Store, $50; and $25 awards by Creative Arts, the Dutch Art Store, Torrance Gallery, Creative Merchandisers and Eastman-Ravizza Agency.

Featured tomorrow and Sunday afternoons will be Nan Susac, puppeteer and former Marin resident. Judy Szilas of Corte Madera, "The Girl From Outer Space," will pose in her bikini for artists and photographers all three days.

Participating in art in action will be Marilee Jordan, Mary Ellen Cranston-Bennett, Loi Wing, Lynn Wood, Barney West, Amy Herl Grant, David Scovill, Arthur Skinner, Helen Durbin, and others.

Refreshment stands will be operated by the Lions Club and Boy Scouts. Organizations with exhibits will include Sausalito Little Theater, Sausalito Nursery School, People to People, and Sausalito Foundation.

Artists will be divided into professional, amateur and student classes for the first time. Fair manager William Fleshman said they will be separated on the grounds according to category.

Hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow and Sunday; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday.

Awards will be presented Monday at 3 p.m. by Sausalito Mayor Jan Paul Dyk.

Magna Carta Due Display In America

LONDON (AP) — The 1215 Magna Carta leaves this country today for display in the United States.

A spokesman at the Public Record Office said: "We believe this is the first time the document has left this country."

Measuring 12 by 22 inches, Magna Carta will go first to Washington. There, in the National Archives, it will be displayed next to the Declaration of Independence during the World Conference on World Peace Through Law, Sept. 12-18.

From Washington, Magna Carta will be taken to Atlanta during the October meeting of the National Council of the English Speaking Union of America meeting. It will be returned to the Public Record Office here early in November.

Marin County Chamber Files Tax Exemption

Incorporation papers and tax exempt status for the new Marin County Chamber of Commerce were recorded this week by Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan in Sacramento.

The new chamber will meet for the first time as an incorporated chamber at noon Sept. 17 at the Blue Rock Inn in Larkspur, according to temporary secretary Jack Alvarado, who is secretary-manager of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

Agenda for that session, Alvarado said, includes adoption of interim by-laws and appointment of a committee to draw up permanent ones, and discussion of Marin County supervisors' plan to hire an assistant county administrator to coordinate promotions throughout the county.

Nine out of 10 travelers in the United States use automobiles.

Cats, Kittens Brushed Up For Show Sunday In Ross

The largest number of purebred kittens ever assembled in the history of the Bay Area cat fancy will be on exhibit Sunday during the Marin County Cat Fanciers' household pet and kitten show at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Ninety kittens, representing almost every recognized breed, have been entered. They will compete in all-breed, longhair specialty and shorthair specialty contests.

In addition, 60 cats and kittens have been entered in the household pet competition. These "just plain cats" of unknown or hybrid ancestry will vie for the title of king and queen, and the cat-size crowns that go with the honor.

The show will be open to the public at 10:30 a.m. when kitten judging will begin.

Mrs. Ione Wilson of Ross, household pet judge, will crown the king and queen (best male and female cats) at 3 p.m. She will also present crowns to the duke and duchess (second best male and female) and prince and princess (best male and female kittens).

Purebred kitten judging will continue through the day under Mrs. Miriam Williams of San Francisco, all-breed; Stan Goldberg of Sausalito, longhair specialty, and Mrs. Veva Ebert of Fremont, shorthair specialty.

Show proceeds will support the Marin County Cat Fanciers' regular all-breed show next February, which will be a benefit for the Marin County Humane Society.

Marin Viet Group Backs Peace Days

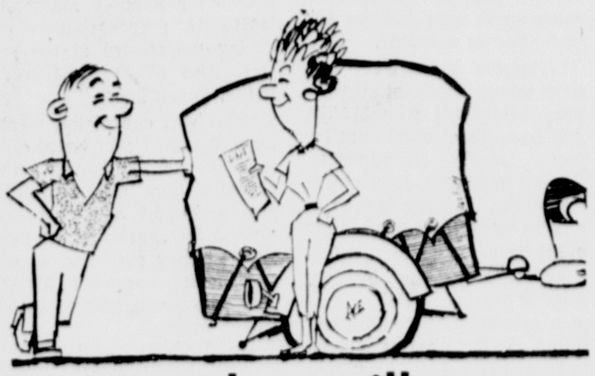

The Marin Viet Nam Committee will concentrate on publicizing international peace days on Oct. 15 and 16, committee members decided at a meeting in San Rafael last night.

The group plans to have bumper stickers printed and carry on a letter writing campaign.

Purpose of the group is to oppose American involvement in the Viet Nam war. About 50 people have joined, a spokesman said.

The committee has headquarters at the Mary Perry Stone Gallery, 109 F Street, San Rafael. Its next meeting will be there Sept. 16 at 8 p.m.

Judge Speaks For Society Against Criminal's Rights

For too long now, we have heard from bleeding hearts who seem more concerned with the rights of criminals than with the rights of society.

It is refreshing to hear a rare voice come out in defense of the rights of policemen and the law abiding segment of society.

Such a voice was raised this week by San Francisco Superior Court Judge Norman Elkington. He denounced the United States Justice Department for what he described as harassment of two patrolmen on an unwarranted charge of police brutality.

The judge made the statement while sentencing Leonard Thompson, 42, to life in prison for the holdup robbery of a San Francisco physician and family last May 19.

Thompson, an ex-convict who had spent most of his adult life behind bars, was cornered near the scene of his latest crime by Patrolmen Herman Clark and Arthur Gerrans. Thompson used a razor-sharp knife to lunge at Officer Gerrans.

Instead of shooting, Officer Gerrans, with the help of Officer Clark, disarmed and handcuffed Thompson.

The judge was "shocked" to learn a few days later that the two officers were under investigation by the Justice Department on a brutality complaint lodged by convict Thompson.

The judge defended the police officers' use of force.

"I am sure that Thompson was not handled gently by the officers," said the judge. "To have done so under the circumstances would have been both suicidal and ridiculous."

"How should a policeman disarm a desperate criminal coming at him with a knife? Are there some sporting rules that he must follow such as allowing the assailant to draw first blood?

"I think the Department of Justice might do better than humbling brave and faithful police officers every time some criminal calls foul. With the many other burdens imposed on policemen in doing their duty, this additional blow to police morale is doing little for law enforcement or to combat the growing crime wave in this country."

Too often, the courts and judicial decisions put police on the defensive by stressing the rights of criminals and ordering police to observe all the legal niceties that are supposed to guarantee human rights.

It's about time that the rights of society get a little emphasis and the criminal put on notice that force will be met with force.

Marin's Sparrows—Examples Of Evolution

The common English Sparrow is a living example of evolution. In 1852 the House Sparrow was introduced into North America's East Coast from England and Germany, and we called it the English Sparrow.

Since then it has spread across the continent, reaching Vancouver in about 1900 and Mexico City about 1933. The biggest, darkest specimens of this bird are found in Canada, while in the deserts of the Southwest they are small and pale.

These changes have been the gradual result of natural selection. Thus the bird has changed its racial characteristics in response to its environment.

Birch Society's Utterances Get Another Black Eye, On Reagan

By WAT TAKESHITA

Takeshita

THE JOHN BIRCH Society, already discredited for its unfair attacks on prominent Americans like President Eisenhower, drew another black eye from statements made by its national public relations director, John Rousselot.

According to reports out of Los Angeles, Rousselot offered to support or attack actor Ronald Reagan, whichever would be most helpful to Reagan's campaign for governor.

This only serves to point up the extremes to which the Birch group would go in its efforts to attain a certain goal. The end, apparently, justifies all means.

Close identification with the Birch Society probably would have hurt Reagan in any event. But this episode makes it even more certain.

Reagan's campaign managers will probably try to steer clear of any public association with the Birch Society between now and election.

THEY'VE FINALLY got an answer to the recording, "Eve of Destruction." At an anti-communism rally in San Francisco this week, Janet Greene is reported to have sung some new songs suited to the conservative taste. They are "The Termites" and "A Comrade's Lot Is Not a Happy One."

THE IDEA OF appointing teachers as deputy sheriffs, which was posed by Judge Leonard A. Thomas last month, has not been dropped altogether.

At the request of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, the California Teachers Assn. and the chairman of the Assembly Committee on Education (Charles B. Garrigus, D-Reedly) are both considering the merits of the proposal.

Assemblyman Garrigus wrote to Bagley that the idea intrigues him. "I have a feeling that if it were on a permissive basis, that certain teachers in an area plagued by disciplinary problems would find such an authority of great assistance."

We may yet have teachers packing sheriff's badges on campus.

REPUBLICAN PAUL Haerle's talk before the Marin Young Democrats went off much more smoothly than we expected.

The topic was "U. S. Involvement in Viet Nam," which was potentially explosive because the YDs and Haerle hold views that are diametrically opposed to each other.

The frank and orderly give-and-take was a credit to both speaker Haerle and to the Young Democrats.

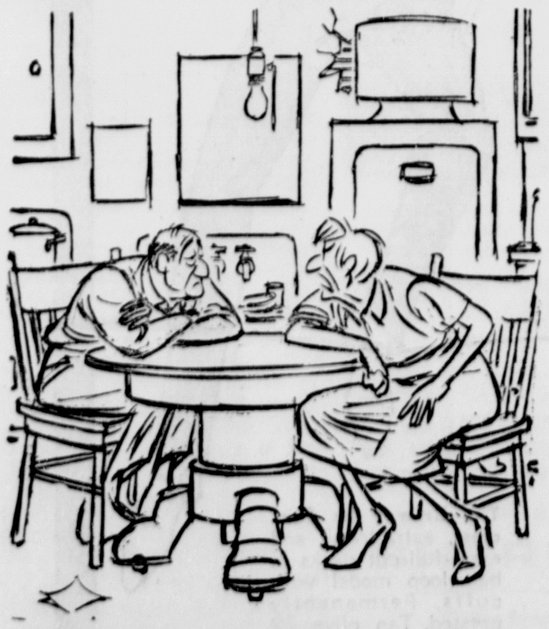

Many adult meetings are conducted with more vituperation and less dignity.

One-Way Toll A Good Idea

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The writer has been advised that on Sept. 8, 1965, directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District will again discuss a proposal that bridge users pay a double toll when going in one direction and none in the opposite direction.

In November, 1963, Arthur C. Jenkins stated in his report to the board, one-way toll collections would be legal.

Collection of round trip 50-cent fares or two commute tickets from northbound cars should be given actual investigation by trial. Of course the object of collecting two fares from northbound traffic would be the elimination of collecting tolls or stopping cars moving in a southerly direction at toll gates.

All tolls are now collected from left or drivers' side of cars which has speeded up traffic on the bridge and also eliminated much congestion at those toll gates which formerly collected fares on the right hand side of traffic.

Is it not reasonable to believe the collection of round trip fares would also speed up traffic especially southbound Marin County commuter traffic by not stopping at bridge toll gates.

Government Needs Full-Time Legislators

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The legislative reforms suggested in your editorial of Aug. 25 are indeed long overdue.

No one who has paid more than passing attention to the decline of the legislative process in California in recent years could disagree with your general conclusion that "the nation's largest state is ready for a Legislature that can devote more time to the many problems at a less frantic pace."

The heart of the matter is reached in your three well-considered recommendations, that:

1. The Legislature meet regularly each year.

2. Bills introduced during one year should be carried over into the following year if not previously acted upon.

3. The compensation of legislators should be improved.

Whether or not one likes the burgeoning role of government in the citizen's every-day affairs is a fact to be reckoned with. Indeed, in light of the growing role of the executive power at the state as well as federal level, only undivided legislative vigilance will in the long run guarantee the ordinary citizen the continuance of a basic freedom from official interference. Part-time amateur "citizen legislators" are no longer able to cope with the problem. It is time for professionalism and excellence in the California Legislature. It is time to revoke the invitation to conflict of interest inherent in a full-time job with part-time pay. The reforms you suggest to accomplish these objectives are long past due.

Per-Pupil Basis Urged For School Cost Study

Editor, Independent-Journal:

You have printed a fine article (see enclosed) that is not only a taxpayer's delight in excoriating their taxing bodies but was assembled most expeditiously without undue cost in research.

Few accuse newspapers of veracity, but for those who occasionally believe, I would like to summarize a number of facts which it is my privilege to be privy to as a member of the Bolinas-Stinson Union School District. Privy is hardly the word, for your reporter could have found the information by merely reading the back issues of your own paper.

1. The maximum tax rate of the Bolinas-Stinson School District is $1.20, voted by the district when formed four years ago and not increased since.

2. The majority of override tax (about 10 cents) is imposed by law and out of the control of the local school board.

3. Approximately 70 cents of the $2.03 tax figure for this district is by state fiat and this district sees none of it. This is the newly imposed equalization tax.

4. The laudatory innuendoes for those districts who were able to decrease their taxes should in justice be given to our district and others whose taxes have been increased by the state in order to lessen the burden in poorer (low assessed valuation per pupil) districts.

. . . A more accurate though less scintillating comparison of school cost would be operating expense per pupil and capital investment per pupil. This would perhaps be of greater import to those genuinely concerned with the price of education.

Would Benefit Union Bosses

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Only union bosses and leaders of the National Council of Churches would benefit by repeal of 14(b) of Taft-Hartley Law.

Is it not unconstitutional for tax-exempt organizations to maintain lobbies in Washington?

A former union member says that if the salaries of union bosses would cease when the workers' wages are cut off during strikes there would be fewer strikes! "One for all and all for one!"

THE LATE Wilfred Funk was one of America's most indefatigable word specialists. He even knew more six-syllable words than John Charles Daly. Funk had his own idea of the 10 most beautiful words in the English language: dawn, hush, lullaby, chimes, golden, melody, murmuring, mist, tranquil, and luminous. He cited as our 10 most overworked words: okay, terrific, lousy, definitely, racket, gal, certainly, darling, swell, and contact. Russ Cooperation Held Unlikely In Johnson's Bid To Share Space

WASHINGTON—This is the ideal time for President Johnson to do everything in his power to encourage the Soviets to join the U.S. in the manned flight to the moon.

American and Soviet space achievements are about even. No one can be sure who's ahead. Moscow is becoming more modest in its claims. With astronauts Cooper and Conrad safely back from their eight-day record flight, the U.S. target date of 1969 for putting a man on the moon is realistic.

Moscow has no reason to feel that our willingness to make the exploration of outer space a joint enterprise reflects backwardness in our own program. There was nothing backward about Gemini 5.

There is another huge dividend which would come to both sides if the Kremlin could be persuaded to make outer space the forum of total cooperation rather than total competition. That would be to end the perilous extension of the arms race into space. Both sides are doing because there is no assurance that the other isn't.

THIS IS WHY President Johnson is acting wisely in doing three things:

In inviting observers from the Soviet Academy of Sciences to come to the U. S. to be present at the flight of Gemini 6 in October.

In assuring the Soviets that, while the Air Force will launch a manned orbiting laboratory, the U. S. will not put nuclear weapons into outer space. (But at this stage there is no way for either Russia or America to establish that the other side is not orbiting nuclear weapons. This would require a degree of mutual inspection which Moscow has never come near to accepting.)

And finally, the President is again demonstrating that he is more than willing to pool our resources in outer space. "I would repeat and renew," he said, "this country's invitation to all nations to join together to make this adventure a joint adventure."

The Soviets may never accept any of these invitations for cooperation. But it shows the whole world that it is our deep desire not to extend the conflicts of the cold war to outer space.

OBVIOUSLY, the easiest gesture by which the Soviets could signal some interest in "joint adventure" would be to come to see Gemini 6. But acceptance, while welcome, is improbable. Two reasons: they don't want to have to admit so openly that they would not extend a reciprocal invitation to U. S. observers; they don't want the outside world to see at first-hand how deeply the military is embedded into their space program.

Not until 1961, when Congress approved President Kennedy's proposal that we make a manned lunar flight a national commitment, did the U. S. start to do what was needed to make sure that the Soviets would not dominate outer space. It has been a crash program and a costly program—but necessary.

Space is a resource to be kept open and to be kept free. Our objective is not to deny outer space to any nation, but to make sure that no nation can deny it to the U.S.

OUTER SPACE ought to belong to all mankind and nothing would insure it more than for the U.S.A. and the USSR to make it the "joint adventure" the president envisions.

Poverty Warriors Lead Hard Lives

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Those teams of staff investigators Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the House labor committee, says he is sending around the country for "on-the-spot inspections of the anti-poverty program" don't have to go far to strike pay dirt.

They can find plenty of it right in the junketeering lawmaker's own bailiwick.

MOST OF a $230,000 federal grant to set in motion an anti-poverty plan in Harlem was eaten up in high salaries and high expense accounts.

Livingston Wingate, one-time Powell assistant, led the juicy salary list with $17,500. And more than $2,000 went for rooms, meals, refreshments, flowers and other comforts at a weekend planning session at a plush mountain resort—many miles from Harlem.

As pieced together by Sen. John Williams, R-Del., "one-man investigating committee" whose jarring exposes include triggering the sensational Bobby Baker probe, details of the costly launching of the HARYOU project are as follows:

Harlem Youth Opportunities Unlimited, Inc. (HARYOU), was largely initiated by Powell for the avowed purpose of combatting unemployment, juvenile delinquency, improving housing, education, etc. A number of officials and consultants were hired—from lists approved by Powell.

Heading the group was Wingate, his former assistant.

OTHER healthy anti-poverty stipends were: Project director $14,000; program coordinator $13,000; special assistant $12,500 and two trainee supervisors $8,500 each.

After getting a $230,000 organizing grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity, headed by Sargent Shriver, the HARYOU authorities got busy mapping out a number of programs to be financed by a $1.4 million OEO allocation.

Among the expense items uncovered by Senator Williams was $12.85 for rental of a tuxedo for Kenneth Marshall, HARYOU program director, during the session at the resort. Also $63.20 for flowers for an "open house."

"This was one of the meetingest groups I ever heard of," says Senator Williams. "Apparently they met morning, noon and night, and ate every time at the expense of the taxpayers. They even had a coffee break charge of $14.50, while discussing how to spend public money.

"I SUPPOSE, in order to get down to the level where he could fittingly discuss poverty and what to do about it, Marshall felt it desirable to dress formally. So he rented a tuxedo at government expense."

Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn., after months finally obtained from OEO a list of 278 "consultants" at salaries from $35 to $100 a day.

Of this number, 191 are receiving more than they previously earned — in most instances substantially so. Only 45 are getting less, and 30 the same amount.

"It is also interesting to learn," said Quie, "that the deputy campaign director for Sen. Robert Kennedy, William Vanden Heuvel, has moved up from his $20,000 a year job as a politician to $26,000 a year as a poverty warrior. Further, Brendon Sexton, former director of leadership studies of the United Auto Workers, left that paltry $13,500 job to get $26,000 on the OEO payroll.

"And it was particularly heartwarming to ascertain that Vincente Ximenes, former national coordinator of the Democratic National Committee at $17,200 a year, now makes $18,200 as a poverty fighter.

"SUCH EXAMPLES of self-sacrifice should warm the hearts of all of us. It's all very inspiring—in reverse."

Thea, a scratch runner, said she had had no practice runs. But, even though she came in last, she remarked, "I beat out the 17 to 20 dropouts.

"I passed one man once. It upset him so that he then passed me. Then I was totally alone. It was nice. I enjoyed it. The people on trails along the way called from their decks saying, 'That's great.' And at one point some friends gave me a drink.

"Then, when I thought I was more than half way, I saw a sign that said: 'Stinson, 3.8 miles.'

"I got there. I didn't have a cent. Couldn't carry a purse in the race. So I borrowed a dollar from the Jaycee management and got four cans of beer and chug-a-lugged them. Then I hitchhiked home."

A GOOSE wandered into the yard of Mrs. Herman Hein in Blithedale Canyon last Saturday to be discovered by Mrs. Hein's granddaughter, Kristi. Tame, it came right up to all guests who gave it water and food. Then police traced the real owners and the goose went home again.

Ben Hartwell, back from Trinity County, reports "It's amazing what they are doing to rebuild" after last winter's floods. "Bridges are all being made five feet higher than before," he said.

JOE ROCCOFORTE captured the village of Mill Valley in a quiet way, in the hearts of men.

He was always building something for others or for himself, always painting or repairing houses. He liked bricks and had his barber shop on Bernard Street faced with them. He liked rocks and was working on a wall at his house on the corner. He liked trees and took pride in the city peppers on Bernard, getting a customer friend, an expert, to trim them.

Having worked hard as a boy, he had a healthy attitude toward work and tried to instill it in the many youngsters who flocked in and out of his shop. He figured work kept youngsters busy, got them started early to recognize the value of money. And he encouraged the smallest of bairns to save earnings from sweeping out the shop, in their own bank account.

He liked cigarettes and smoked a lot of them. He liked coffee and drank a lot of it. When Nina went by pushing her bike up the hill, he would call out, "Hey, Nina, get us some coffee." It was always for all hands.

WHEN A FRIEND was asked what organizations Joe belonged to, we were told, "Joe wasn't a joiner. He was an individualist."

Joe gave. It was no wonder his customers reciprocated. One day we came in to find that someone, who had been hunting, had given him some ducks and Joe had enlisted a young lad to pick them in the back room.

This guy spoke the language of butchers, firemen, artists and teachers. An artist friend hung paintings on the shop walls, a recent one being that of Ezra Pound. And there were two books on Pound on Joe's shelf which we doubt Joe ever read.

JOE TOLD friends that his father had lived to be 90 and just wouldn't die. Apparently Joe thought he too would live forever. And, in a way, he will.

Draft Deadline May Have Put Damper On Some Wedding Bells

WASHINGTON—Many young American men who weren't too interested in marriage suddenly found themselves in love last week when a presidential executive order was issued which said that anyone of draft age who married after midnight on Aug. 25 would be eligible for the draft on the same basis as a bachelor.

UNFORTUNATELY the order came out so fast that very few couples were able to get to the church on time and many of the young men who proposed have now had second thoughts.

"Hello, Shirley. This is Harold. I'm fine. How are you?... You're excited? That's nice. is . . . Sure, I want to hear about your wedding dress. It's white . . . uh, huh. And it has lace and there's a satin bow in the back . . . that sounds like some dress. As a matter of fact, that's what I called you about . . . No, I haven't bought my suit yet . . . I was holding off. Shirley, I don't know how to say this . . . Will you listen, Shirley? The invitation? Okay, let me hear it . . . How many are you sending out, Shirley? One hundred and twenty? . . . Maybe you ought to hold off . . .

"It already went to the printers? . . . Listen, Shirley. We're living in perilous times . . . I didn't say it. President Johnson said it. I'm just quoting him, and when I asked you to marry me I didn't know how perilous they were . . . Hello, Shirley, are you still there? . . . Of course I love you? . . . As much as the other night? That's what I called about.

"MAYBE we got carried away a little, Shirley . . . A guy says a lot of things at night that he would have never said in the daytime . . . I meant every bit of it except the one part . . . Shirley, what are you yelling for? We should be able to discuss this like mature people . . . Which part didn't I mean? . . . I know this is going to sound funny, but the part I'm not sure about is when I said, 'Shirley, will you marry me?'

"LOOK, this is as much a blow to me as it is to you. Did I know President Johnson was going to draft me after I got married? . . . How can you say I was going to marry you just to stay out of the Army?

"That's how you interpret it, but I want you to know, Shirley, I'm thinking of you . . . I don't want you sitting home nights wondering where I am, what I'm doing, and that sort of thing. It's me that's making the sacrifice . . . You shouldn't talk that way to somebody's who's about to serve his country . . . No, I don't want to speak to your father . . .

"MR. POTTS? . . . No, sir, I really don't know what she's crying about. It's a little misunderstanding . . . You might call it a lover's quarrel . . . Well, sir, you see, I want to serve my country and do my share to defeat godless Communism . . . Shirley, on the other hand, wants me to get married . . . Yes, I did ask her to marry me, but that was before the presidential executive order . . . I don't think you should call me a draft-dodger even if she is your daughter . . . And furthermore, I'm glad I discovered her attitude before I married her. It all could have been a terrible mistake."

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

FUSSELMAN

THERE WAS SOME confusion last week owing to deletions. (Several people asked me about it.) "This membership meeting" referred to Marvelous Marin, not to the traction convention. That was held in San Francisco.

After recovering from the blow of the Key's about face, we started working with the Greyhound people. I personally kept up a close contact until 1953. After service was in operation, we had a 16-bus caravan, filled with Marinites, travel to the city escorted by a police lieutenant and a sergeant in radio cars plus a squad of motorcycle officers. We were convoyed along Montgomery and then up Market to the City Hall for an official welcome and then to the Whitcomb Hotel for lunch with San Francisco and Greyhound officials. This was followed by a trip out 19th Avenue and return down Market into Montgomery and home. The 8 x 10 prints I have exhibit a real promotional event. I talked for three hours over a public address system from the leading bus.

THE PRESENT situation looks something like this to me. Before there is any binding commitment made to take over, many things should be considered. There should be no hasty action of having Marin County lift the load off Greyhound's shoulders. The basic premise is to relieve traffic congestion both to and from San Francisco and to use buses from city to city here in Marin. There have been attempts at the latter with complete failure. Why? Because we have not been conditioned to this sort of thing, ever. On the other hand, the East Bay and San Francisco have. They both have had streetcars for years and years and simply converted to buses. I took a bus to the city on June 21 (before the new buses were put in operation), then again another last month on the new buses. They are pleasant to ride in, but the Seventh Street terminal is really something else again. There are pigeons all over the place, inside and out, as well as other undesirable conditions. The long-haul just doesn't fit in with short-haul requirements. During the commute hours there is a massive unloading mostly at the Ferry Building.

QUESTIONS: Can Marin afford to build or rent better accommodations? Is there any assurance that the city would OK such endeavor? Would Marin taxpayers, at this time, wish to finance these things to induce a greater use of buses? Certainly not "by January" as the administrator admonished the board of supervisors. An updated survey of origin and destination of private commute cars should be made immediately, together with an answer as to whether or not these drivers and/or riders would change their practice, or what kind of improvements would they wish to see before making a change. If all the necessary improvements could and would be made, would financing be done by a tax levy or by an increase in fares? Would the voters approve the former? Would the present bus riders and the private car users go along? These are only a few of the questions that must be answered.

Fifteenth-century sailors shuddered if their ship listed to starboard: they considered it a very bad omen.

Today is Friday, Sept. 3, the 246th day of 1965 with 119 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase; the morning stars are Mercury, Jupiter, and Saturn; the evening stars are Venus, Mars, and Saturn.

Italian violin - maker Nicolo Amati was born on this day in 1596.

On this day in history:

In 1783, the American Revolutionary War ended officially with the signing of a peace treaty in Paris.

In 1916, the Allies broke a German offensive at Verdun in World War I.

In 1939, Great Britain declared war on Germany.

In 1943, the Allies invaded the Italian mainland in World War II.

A thought for the day—American aviatrix Amelia Earhart said: "Courage is the price that life exacts for granting peace. The soul that knows it not, knows no release from little things."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Every Card Hand Must Have A Silver Lining, Somewhere

Most people would like to be wealthy, although the copybooks say that happiness and a bulging checkbook are sworn enemies. Perhaps it's for the same reason that bridge players are foolish enough to like aces and kings.

True happiness comes to a player like East in the hand shown today.

Opening lead — ♣ K

If you had looked at East's face when he picked up his cards, you would have seen that he didn't know much about true happiness.

FEELING OF RELIEF

About the closest he came to happiness was a feeling of relief that his opponents had not bid a grand slam.

West led the king of clubs and continued with the queen and ace. South, seeing that ruffing the third club would cause trouble if he ran into a 4-1 trump break, discarded a diamond instead of ruffing.

West led a fourth club, and declarer ruffed with dummy's deuce.

East scowled at his partner for putting him in the middle. Then East over-ruffed dummy, and South ruffed highest of all.

HEARTS BREAK WELL

South cashed the top hearts and ruffed a heart in dummy. When the suit broke favorably, declarer drew trumps and took the rest of the tricks without any trouble.

Somehow or other we've drifted from East's happiness, but you surely noticed that East made a blunder when he over-ruffed dummy on the fourth round of clubs. Instead, East should discard a heart.

SOUTH ON SPOT

Now South is in trouble. If he draws trumps, he must lose a heart trick to West. If South does not draw trumps, East can over-ruff dummy on the third round of hearts.

What a triumph for East to defeat the contract with his ghastly hand!

Now that you know what true happiness is, try to avoid it. You wouldn't want too much of a good thing.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two hearts, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ 9 7 5 4
♡ 6 5 2
◇ 8 6 3
♣ 9 8 3

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two notrump.

Your partner's two-bid is forcing to game, and you should respect it. You will probably take a licking on this hand, but you will keep your partner's confidence. (If you're already sure of your partner's confidence, nobody could scold you very much for passing.)

Home Rule Proposal For D.C. Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 218th signature — the last one needed—was placed today on a petition to force to the House floor a bill that would let Washington's citizens elect their own officials.

The final signer was Rep. George E. Shipley, D-Ill. His signature brought the number on the petition to a majority of the House. It also served to freeze the list so that any signers could no longer remove their names from the petition.

The petition, aimed at giving the capital city home rule for the first time since 1874, was completed shortly after the House met at noon.

The Senate-passed bill now can reach the House floor Sept. 27.

But even before it can get there, the House will be presented with a competing bill that would give most of the capital back to the State of Maryland.

The fight over "home rule" for the District of Columbia took this dramatic turn yesterday as President Johnson and Democratic leaders pulled out the stops trying to line up House members to sign the discharge petition.

They got 25 to sign, 6 of them from Johnson's home state of Texas. At day's end 217 names were on the petition, 1 short of the required majority of the House.

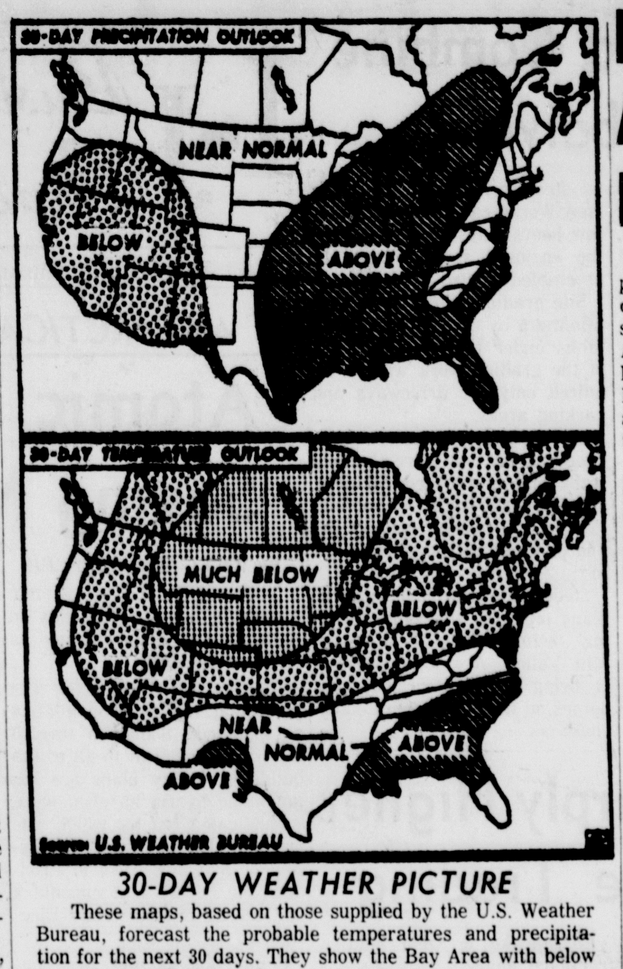

In a countermove, the committee chairman, Rep. John L. McMillan, D-S.C., called a meeting and reported out 14 to 3 a bill to cede most of the capital back to Maryland.

If the state doesn't want the district, a referendum would be held among Washington residents as a first step toward self-government.

New York City's Emergency Ambulance Service answers about half a million calls annually. The emergency service is manned by 122 ambulances from 14 municipal hospitals and 24 voluntary hospitals.

Birch Peace Officer Suspended From Force

ARCATA (UPI)—The head of the local John Birch Society chapter was permanently suspended last night from this Northern California college town's auxiliary police force.

The five - man city council voted unanimously to supsend painting contractor Murrel Gray, 36.

About 350 persons from the 5,000-population town, home of Humboldt State College, attended the public hearing in the local high school. The meeting lasted two hours and included exchanges from the floor.

Gray was accepted on the force recently and the council asked him to resign when it learned he was a member of the society. He refused.

"The arguments put forth tonight are not adequate to convince me to resign," Gray said. "This is an infringement on my citizenship."

Councilman Grant Ferguson, who made the motion for the suspension, said, "everyone in the community should have confidence in a peace officer and most important of all he should not be controversial."

Petty Thief Is Sentenced

A 90-day suspended jail sentence, $193 fine, and three years supervised probation were given Peter A. Wadlewski, 20, yesterday in Marin Superior Court for petty theft.

Wadlewski, of 42 Tamalpais Avenue, Fairfax, originally was charged with burglary of the apartment of Candace Bruchler and Lynda Jordan, 770 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, last Easter weekend.

He pleaded guilty to the lesser offense on June 28 during the second day of his trial.

Africa, Asia and Latin America have birth rates ranging from 40 to 50 births per 1,000 population per year, the Population Reference Bureau, Inc., reports.

Republicans Aiming For Negro Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A panel of Republican leaders has called for enactment of new state and local civil rights laws. And GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss has asked a team of Negro Republicans to draw up plans aimed at enlisting Negores in the party.

Those steps added up today to a GOP bid to win in 1966 some of the Negro votes which went overwhelmingly against GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater in his race last year with President Johnson.

The Republican Coordinating Committee, in a policy paper made public yesterday, issued this call for civil rights action:

"At the state and local levels of government, we urge enactment of laws designed to protect constitutional guarantees and a vigorous implementation of such laws."

"We also urge private action at the local level to insure equal opportunity for all in the fields of housing, employment and public accommodations," the committee declaration added.

Declaring that Republicans have always been devoted to the cause of human rights, the party council added: "We are entering a new phase of the struggle for equality of opportunity and responsibility. In this phase major emphasis must be placed on state, local and private action."

Market Yeggs Caught In Act

MORAGA (AP)—Two gunmen tried to crack the safe in a Safeway supermarket early today but were trapped and forced to surrender after holding a deputy sheriff captive more than an hour.

Paul Ormand Deignan, 23, and Robert Loring Packard, 23, were booked in the Contra Costa County Jail at Martinez on charges of burglary and assault with a deadly weapon.

Two men cut a hole in the store roof, lowered themselves on a rope to the floor and were using an acetylene torch on a safe when they were discovered.

Con Huddleston, the produce department manager, came to work early and saw lights, apparently from the torch. He telephoned the sheriff's office and two patrol cars were dispatched to the store in the Moraga Shopping Center.

Deputy Sheriff Dale Sandy of Martinez entered the super Market and was jumped by the burglars, who were armed with a military type rifle. They took his pistol and marched him upstairs to a rest room.

Meanwhile, officers surrounded the building and floodlighted it.

Sheriff Walter F. Young of Contra Costa County and deputy Rocky Dwyer, with a shotgun, went into the building and talked the trapped men into releasing Sandy and giving up. The sheriff said the men were concerned about how long a prison sentence they might get.

The knob had been knocked off the safe when Huddleston discovered the men.

Officers found a rented car parked near the store. In it were burglar tools and merchandise which officers said might have been stolen.

Detectives said the men would not say where their homes were.

Young Woman Art Student Is Strangled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A young woman art student was strangled with a necktie today in her North Beach apartment after a night-long party.

Arthur Shields, 24, unemployed art student, surrendered to police.

Shields at first ordered a taxicab driver at pistol point to drive him to Sacramento. But he changed his mind, cabbie Carl North said, and ordered "Take me to a police station. I want to confess a murder.

Police tentatively identified the dead woman as Enni Metzola, 30.

Officers found the body semi-nude on the bathroom floor.

Neighbors said the young woman and her male visitor shouted and fought through an all - night party, and threw at least one wine bottle out a window.

Meeting Changes

The Sausalito Citizens Council board of directors will meet Sept. 16. It did not meet last night, as scheduled, Carl W. Spring, corresponding secretary, reported today.

Six Bid For Tire Contract

Six bidders are competing for the contract to supply Marin County with new and recapped tires during fiscal 1966.

County purchasing agent John Hettrick, who opened bids yesterday, said it will take some time to figure which bid or bids will be most advantageous. There were 21 tire sizes in the specifications.

Bidders were Golden Gate Tire Service of Richmond, Novato Tire and Battery Co., Malugani's Tire Service of Mill Valley, Brodie and Schwerin San Rafael Tire and Brake Co., Brandon Tire and Supply of San Rafael, and Mark Morris Tire Centers, of San Rafael.

PLANNED FOR SAN ANSELMO SUBDIVISION —This home, incorporating both steel and prefabricated plywood construction and designed by Paul E. Thompson, is said to combine economy and quality for the new home buyer. It will be introduced at Indian Rock Estates, a hillside development of Steel Homes of Tiburon. Construction of a model home will start soon by Koenig Construction Co.

Steel, Wood Combine In New Subdivision

Steel and plywood will be combined in a new type of home designed by Paul E. Thompson, registered building designer of Mill Valley.

The home will be introduced by Floyd Derieux of Steel Homes on a 15-lot subdivision of Indian Rock Estates, located on the Alameda, San Anselmo. Koenig Construction Co. of San Anselmo will do the building.

Thompson's home incorporates modular pre-built roof and floor structures supported by steel beams. Roof and floor will be in "sandwich panels" four feet wide and up to 32 to 40 feet in length, which he says can be set in place in less than half a day.

Walls and partitions will be similar to conventional walls but will be delivered to the site already assembled. Prefabricated steel members by Schrader Iron Works can be erected in a few hours, says Thompson, and the enclosed structure can be assembled in two days.

Site grading will be held to a minimum by using concrete columns under the building. Most of the grading work will be required only for driveways and parking areas.

The house will feature such time savers as pre-plumbed walls and prefinished cabinets. Other finish work — roofing, flooring, electrical connections and painting will be done on the job.

Steel Homes, a Tiburon firm, plans on using the same building technique in Novato and Mill Valley. A smaller version is being planned for vacation homes on the Mendocino County coast.

Market Sharply Higher After Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed sharply higher today, in active trading.

The market was up slightly at the start and widened its gains throughout the session.

Steels, encouraged by reports of narrowing differences in the labor negotiations, were generally higher but gains were small.

General Electric and Westinghouse Electric were ahead well over a point, GE's advance touching 2. Du Pont's gain was almost 3 in late dealings.

Chesapeake & Ohio held a fractional gain.

Boeing gained about 2, Johns-Manville 1.

Commonwealth Oil was an active fractional gainer.

Volume for the day was estimated at 6.2 million shares compared with 6.48 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Electrical equipments were strong. A generally higher tone prevailed among steels, autos, chemicals, aerospace issues, mail order-retails and tobaccos.

Gold-mining issues were soft on news that Russia has sold 100 tons of gold in the past week. American South African Investment lost more than 3. Homestake dropped a fraction.

Commonwealth Oil, up a fraction, looked like the most-active stock. Great Western Financial and Continental Airlines were fractional losers.

General Electric and Westinghouse Electric rose more than a point each. Du Pont added 2.

U.S. Steel, Republic Steel and Jones & Laughlin were moderate gainers. Chrysler gained 1, General Motors a fraction.

Also up more than a point were Boeing, Northwest Airlines, Lukens Steel and Coca Cola.

IBM rose 3, Tidewater Oil nearly 2.

KLM Airlines was very active and up a point or better. Gains of a point were made by Chicago & Eastern Illinois, Chicago Great Western and Olin Mathieson.

Chesapeake & Ohio and Delaware & Hudson showed fractional gains. Reading slumped almost a point. Boston & Maine eased. Norfolk & Western was unchanged.

Union Tank Car was up 7/8 at 55 7/8 on a block of 25,000 shares.

Prices were higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Atomic Energy Saving Money

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Atomic energy is being used today in Antarctica to save money as well as property.

In 1962, the first reactor was set up at the U.S. installation at McMurdo Sound to furnish electricity and heat to all of the buildings. Today plans are being made to use an even more sophisticated reactor which was produced by the SYLCOR Division of Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., which is a subsidiary of General Telephone and Electronics.

Completion of the first nuclear fuel for the new PM-3A reactor was announced here at a news conference. The uranium will be encased in a grouping of slender tubes which is known in atomic parlance as a fuel core. The core is part of a $1.4 million contract which the Atomic Energy Commission let to Sylvania after another well-known company was unable to build a suitable reactor.

Wes Johnson, an AEC engineer who inspected the McMurdo facilities, said informally that the reactor should be a real money saver.

"The only fuel McMurdo used before the reactor was built was oil," Johnson said. "It had to be brought in by tanker. And ships can get in only a few months during the Antarctic summer. During the rest of the year there is nothing but ice."

Since the reactor's fuel cores can last approximately 2½ years, the frigid climate no longer can place restrictions on intake of fuel supply. And the nuclear fuel in the long run is much cheaper than oil.

"The reactor is absolutely safe," Johnson said. "With oil, there was always danger of fire. If a fire breaks out in one building, with gale winds blowing, all of the buildings could burn in one hour.

"The reason why there is always a fire hazard," Johnson added, "is the humidity. There is no humidity in Antarctica and everything is dry."

Gerald L. Moran, senior vice president and division general manager of Sylvania, said during the news conference that "the completion of this order is another milestone for the SYLCOR Division, which has long been one of the leaders in the research, development and production of fuels for research reactors throughout the world."

Moran said an identical power fuel core is expected to be delivered to the U.S. Air Force facility at Sundance, Wyo., in November.

Marinite Joins Printing Firm

Translucent Forms prints ledger sheets, business statements and machine forms. It does a national business in printing federal and state income tax forms and supporting forms.

Lindner, a resident of Ross, said he will continue his work as a financial and investment consultant but will move his office to 580 Irwin Street, San Rafael, where Translucent Forms is located.

MARKET HOLIDAY FOR LABOR DAY

NEW YORK (UPI) — All securities and commodities markets will be closed both in the United States and Canada on Monday in observance of the Labor Day holiday.

The London Stock Exchange and other markets abroad will remain open.

Drivers Want More Steer, Less Stop

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American motoring public apparently is more interested in moving than stopping. Although power brakes were introduced 35 years ago, only 30 per cent of today's new car buyers order them.

Power steering, introduced much later, now attracts more than 60 per cent of new car purchasers.

Growth Means Litter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Keep America Beautiful, Inc., a national anti-litter group, says that the United States produces more rubbish per year per person than any other nation. It estimates the amount at a half ton per year. As nations industrialize, their litter problems grow, the association said.

Black cars have more accidents than any other cars.

Merger Rumor Is Confirmed

SAN FRANCISCO—The president of Fireman's Fund Insurance Co. has confirmed that his company is negotiating a merger with North American Investment Corp.

NAIC manages the four Commonwealth Mutual Funds through its wholly owned subsidiary, North American Securities Co.

Fred H. Merrill, in a statement issued from Fireman's Funds headquarters here, declared, "It is correct that directors of both companies have approved in principle a proposed merger. This merger is still in the negotiating stage, however, and full details will be made public at the proper time."

Boo Birds Didn't Bother Juan, But Belting Did

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — San Francisco's Juan Marichal was booed and belted in his first start after a nine-day suspension.

He said the booing didn't bother him. He admitted the belting did.

A crowd of 30,410 — the largest in memory for a weekday crowd in Philadelphia — turned out to see Miarchal's first start since he hit Los Angeles catcher John Roseboro over the head with a bat.

And they booed his every move.

The Phillies, meanwhile, took advantage of Marichal's ineffectiveness — the Giants' 19-game winner attributed it to the nine-day layoff — and whipped San Francisco 4-3 in the opener of a doubleheader. The Giants won the nightcap 5-2.

The Giants flew to Chicago immediately following the doubleheader to open a three-game series with the Cubs. Bob Bolin (8-4) meets Bill Faul (4-3) in today's game.

The split left the Giants one game behind the Los Angeles' Dodgers in the tight National League pennant race, but only one percentage point ahead of Cincinnati.

Philadelphia led, 2-1, at the end of seven in the second game. The Giants tied it up on a single by Jesus Alou, a walk and an error. Tito Fuentes scored when Willie Mays hit into a double play.

Ken Henderson scored the winning run in the ninth after he had walked to first. Frank Linzy bunted him to second, and was safe at first. Dick Schofield sacrificed the runners to second and third and Henderson scampered home on a wild third strike to batter Matty Alou.

Jack Hiatt singled Linzy home and Alou scored on a sacrifice fly by Jim Ray Hart.

Marichal, who is being sued by Roseboro for $110,000, for the Aug. 22 fight, worked seven innings of the opener, allowing seven hits and four runs. He said afterward that he wasn't sharp, the nine-day enforced layoff had taken a toll.

"I have to work every four days to keep sharp," said the 27-year-old right hander, who lost his 10th instead of gaining a coveted 20th victory.

The crowd booed the native of Santo Domingo from the time his name was announced as the starting pitcher for the Giants. They gave it to him each time he came to bat.

"I expected to be booed. It didn't affect my pitching. They (the fans) boo their own Richie Allen and he's a pretty good ball player. What could I expect."

Marichal attributed his defeat to the layoff, which dulled his sharpness and said, "I wasn't lucky enough today."

Marichal referred to a single by Allen off the pitcher's bare hand, a home run he said Bobby Wine slammed with only one hand on the bat off a low, outside pitch, and a blooper by opposing pitcher Chris Short that fell for a run scoring single in right field among three Giants' fielders.

There is some uncertainty as to when Marichal will start again in the tight National League pennant race. He said he hoped to give it a try Sunday against the Cubs in Chicago. Manager Herman Franks however, refused to comment.

Since Franks already is on record saying he has never started a pitcher with two days rest, it is doubtful that Marichal will work Sunday. But with all the money at stake and only three weeks to go, Franks could have a change of heart.

Actually, Marichal's next start in regular rotation should be on Monday in Los Angeles, but National League President Warren Giles, who suspended Marichal for nine days and fined him $1,750 for the Roseboro fight, also banned the pitcher from Los Angeles for the Sept. 6-7 Giants-Dodgers series.

MISS MARATHON TRIES THE FARALLONES

Leonore Modell, 15, of Sacramento (center) hustles out of the water at Aquatic Park, San Francisco, to talk with her coach, Paul Herron. The husky swimmer last year conquered the English Channel and is now training for a far more difficult challenge, the 30 miles of open ocean between the Farallon Islands and San Francisco. Swimming with her yesterday was another Capital City swimmer, 18-year-old Stephanie Sigman, but she was just swimming for fun. Leonore will start her trip tomorrow. (AP Wirephoto)

Dodgers Again Jump To 1st Place With 7-1 Win

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Surprise is the secret to the Dodgers success.

The minute the opposition drops its guard, the Dodgers shore up their pop-gun attack and plunk the enemy right between the eyes.

While Pittsburgh's Bob Veale was concentrating on striking out the Dodgers' leading hitter, Maury Wills, four times last night he overlooked a .239 hitter named Jim Lefebvre, and as a result the Dodgers' almost non-descript band of performers is back in first place in the National League.

Lefebvre, a 22-year-old former Dodger batboy, drove in four runs with three hits to pace Los Angeles to a 7-1 victory over the Pirates while Milwaukee was upending Cincinnati 4-3 in 11 innings, pushing the Dodgers back into a one-game lead over San Francisco and the Reds.

GIANTS BOUNCE BACK

The Giants whacked Philadelphia 5-2 in the second game of a doubleheader after losing the opener to the Phillies 4-3, Chicago toppled St. Louis 5-3 and Houston edged New York 4-3 in other NL games.

Lefebvre, who had driven in only two runs in the last three weeks, singled in the third inning to plate two tallies after the Dodgers had loaded the bases on an error and two walks. The Dodgers scratched for another score in the fifth on a walk, a wild pitch and Lefebvre's single. A double by Lefebvre scored another in the seventh.

Claude Osteen pitched the first seven innings for Los Angeles, allowing five hits and Ron Perranoski held the Pirates hitless in relief over the last two frames to protect Osteen's 12th victory against 13 losses. The win was only the seventh in the last 18 games for LA.

SISLER GAMBLE FAILS

Cincinnati Manager Dick Sisler gambled with his second line pitching against the Braves and lost as the Braves snapped a 3-3 tie in the 11th on a single by Eddie Mathews—the only hit off reliever Ted Davidson in four innings—a bunt, an error by Davidson and Mike De La Hoz' sacrifice fly. The loss knocked the Reds out of their one percentage point lead in the NL race. Winner Hank Fischer worked 10 innings allowing six hits including Frank Robinson's seventh inning homer that tied the score.

Claude Raymond's brilliant ninth-inning relief work enabled Larry Dierker, Houston's 18-year-old bonus baby, to win his seventh game. Rusty Staub homered and singled to drive in two Astro runs and scored a third. The Mets rallied for two in the ninth on Joe Christopher's two-run single.

Ernie Banks cracked his 400th career homer with two on in the third inning off loser Curt Simmons. The blow helped the Cubs' Bob Hendley, just recalled from the minors, to win his second game of the season. Lou Brock hit his 14th home run for the Cardinals.

Wininger Takes Early Lead In Oklahoma Open

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Bo Wininger, the surprise leader after the first round of the $65,000 Oklahoma City Open Golf Tournament, says he didn't have any choice when he carded a three-under-par 69 to take a one-shot advantage.

"When you start out like I did," Wininger said, "and you're playing with someone who's shooting like Bobby Nichols was, you know it's time to get started.

"You're always playing the course primarily," he added, "but Nichols was playing alongside me and he was four under after nine holes. If you want to stay in the thing, you just have to get to work when someone is shooting that way."

That's just what Wininger did yesterday. While Nichols was blazing away and defending champion Arnold Palmer was drawing lots of attention, the 42-year-old Las Vegas, Nev., pro overcame a shaky start to go ahead.

Wininger said the way he got started was downright embarrassing.

"I topped my tee shot on number one and it just went 40 yards," he said. "I stepped it off—40 yards . . . that's the first time I can remember hitting my tee shot 40 yards. Another fraction of an inch and I'd have fanned the ball."

But while Nichols carded a disastrous double bogey at the 17th hole on the 7,173-yard, par 72 Quail Creek Country Club course and soared to a 39 on the back nine, Wininger took command.

As gusting winds hampered many golfers, Wininger, who later said, "I lived here too long to be bothered by a wind like that," picked up five birdies and overcame two bogeys to forge ahead.

Host pro Ernie Vossler and a tour newcomer, Jim Ferriell, 23, of Louisville, Ky., were one stroke back at 70.

Grouped at 71 were Nichols, PGA champion Dave Marr, Charles Coody, Tom Aaron, Cliff Brown, Ken Towns, Jack Montgomery and Chuck Rotar.

Palmer, plagued by putting problems all year, struggled to a 75, far off the pace.

Obviously upset, Palmer declared, "It wasn't a very good round. I three-putted three or four times. The wind didn't make it any easier, but it didn't make that much difference. I just couldn't putt."

Pitcher Haddix Retires

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (UPI)— Harvey (The Kitten) Haddix, a 14-year major league pitcher who competed with the ferocity of a tiger, turned down a chance for a World Series check because he didn't think he could earn it.

Haddix announced his retirement as a player yesterday, three days after his purchase by the pennant - chasing Milwaukee Braves from the Baltimore Orioles.

"I haven't been throwing good all year and felt that I couldn't pitch good for the Milwaukee Braves either," he explained from his home at nearby South Vienna.

"I didn't think I could pitch good enough for the Braves and maybe would cost them a few ball games at this critical time. I just figured I wasn't throwing good enough."

Asked about his future plans, he replied: "I don't have anything in mind. I'll just sit back and see what comes along. I might be a pitching coach."

Haddix, who will be 40 on Sept. 18, earned his nickname for his cat-like fielding from the mound. The little lefthander began his playing career in 1947. In recent years he has worked as a relief pitcher and had a 3-2 record this year.

The Braves have cause to remember Haddix, for his greatest claim to fame was made against them. He hurled a perfect game for 12 innings on the night of May 26, 1959, at Milwaukee only to lose in the 13th. He was with Pittsburgh then. It was the longest perfect-inning stretch in one game in modern major league history.

Leach Holds 2nd Place In Golf Tourney

Ray Leach of Novato stayed in contention yesterday in the State junior golf championship at the Silverado course in Napa and went into today's final round in second place, two strokes back of the leading 54-hole total of 214 posted by Wayne Palessiro of Ontario, San Bernadino County.

Don Hawken survived the cut after yesterday's 36-hole grind, which left 32 players of the 120 who started the tourney, but he was out of the running with a 228 total. This put him in a three-way tie for 10th.

Palessiro and Leach started yesterday's action in second and third places, respectively. Palessiro had shot 71 Wednesday, Leach 72 to trail leader Lyle Wehrman Jr. of Mt. Diablo at 70.

Palessiro and Leach continued to play well yesterday, however, while Wehrman shot himself to fourth place with a horrendous 79 on the second round and a good 71 on the third for 220. Palessiro had rounds of 70 and 73 while Leach shot 71 and 73. Hawken's game tapered off from his 74 Wednesday to 76 and 78 yesterday.

Giants Sign Napa Pitcher

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— The San Francisco Giants have signed 20-year-old right - handed pitcher Rich Robertson for their Tacoma, Wash., farm team.

Robertson, a 6-foot-3, 200-pound junior at the University of Santa Clara signed yesterday to play for the Pacific Coast League Tacoma Giants next season.

He was drafted by the Giants' AA Springfield, Mass., club in the June free agent draft. The Giants said Robertson received a bonus for the signing but did not disclose the amount.

Robertson is from Napa, Calif.

Machette Blanks Foe In Capitol Net Tourney

Mike Machette of Belvedere breezed through the second round yesterday in the boys 14 division of the State Fair championship junior tennis tourney in Sacramento, again without loss of a game.

This time it was John Leles who fell 6-0, 6-0. Machette was not as fortunate in the boys 16, however. He ran up against Jeff Borowiak of Lafayette and Borowiak, who pulled the upset of the tournament yesterday, downed him 6-4, 7-5. Borowiak stunned top-seeded Steve Turpen in the boys 18, 6-2, 1-6, 10-8.

Darby Auerbach of Belvedere in the girls 14 defeated the sister of Machette's victim in the boys 14 by a 7-5, 6-3 count.

Mira Starts For 49ers Tomorrow

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — San Francisco 49er coach Jack Christiansen will start quarterback George Mira against the Pittsburgh Steelers tomorrow in a National Football League preseason game in Providence.

John Brodie started at quarterback for the 49ers last week. Other offensive changes made by Christiansen:

Mike Lind at fullback instead of Ken Willard; Kay McFarland and Dale Messer as split ends instead of Dave Parks and Bernie Casey; rookie Jim Norton at tackle instead of Walt Rock.

Christiansen said his defensive lineup will be unchanged.

CONNOLLY

There are some people you meet and forget.

Paul Waner, the ballplayer, wasn't that kind of a person. When you met him you always remembered a story he told or an expression he used or an unforgettable incident.

One of Waner's memorable yarns was about Justin Fitzgerald, an outfielder with the San Francisco Seals in 1923 when Waner joined the club.

"Christopher Columbus discovered America, but Fitzgerald discovered me," Waner used to say whenever he was reminiscing of the old days. "I'd never have been around if Fitz hadn't asked me to pitch. I told him my arm was sore. And he said, "Well, take batting practice, anyhow."

AFTER FITZ had seen Waner bat he relayed the news to Charley Graham and Waner was never asked to do any pitching. He went on to the Pittsburgh Pirates and to the Hall of Fame without any misgivings for a lost pitching career.

In 1923, when Waner made his appearance with the Seals in spring training, a promising infielder from Golden Gate Park named Phil Tanner was there for a tryout. Tanner was smaller than Waner and much smarter. Phil had won the city golf title and played an excellent game of pool. Every trick he knew, he played on Waner and they became fast friends.

"Ever play golf?" Tanner asked Waner. After a few moments explaining, the pair started off the first tee.

"WHERE WE GOING?" Waner asked.

"See that flag out there? Shoot for it," replied Tanner.

"You mean I gotta get it in from here?," Waner, the farm hand from Ada, Oklahoma, inquired.

Waner later became a fine golfer and a lot of fun went with his game.

Ernie Lombardi, former Cincinnati Red catcher, tells one on Waner. "Paul came to the ball park a bit shaky after a stormy night. Coming up to the plate, Paul said: 'Schnozz, I'm asking you one favor today. Don't let that pitcher throw at me. He'll hit me."

WHAT HAPPENED? Waner went on to get four for four and to this day Lombardi says he never saw anything like it. Lon Warnecke, a capable Chicago Cub pitcher, was a victim of Waner's wayward hitting. He never threw at him one day and Waner again went four for four.

The funniest scouting report story about Waner was told on Hank Gowdy, who was sent to San Francisco to look over the Seal star. At the time, Waner was ill and looked bad. Gowdy, informed that the kid was ill, nevertheless reported back unfavorably. When the late John J. McGraw took a peek at Waner the next year with Pittsburgh, he released Gowdy as a scout.

A lifetime major league batting average of .333 and a three year Coast League record of .369, 356 and .401 are in the books for Waner and not even his death this week will ever remove 'em from the records.

Women Tie For Golf Honors

Four women tied for Ace of the Month yesterday at the Meadow Club. They were Mrs. N.M. Green (87-13-74), Mrs. R. E. Belli (91-17-74), Mrs. R. Luce (95-21-74) and Mrs. R. Parish (101-27-74).

Mrs. Green and Mrs. Belli tied for class A honors while Mrs. Luce took Class B. Mrs. H. N. Hensler (89-13-76) and Mrs. R. J. Fuite (93-17-76) tied for third in Class A.

U.S. Net Stars Hope To Rebound At Forest Hills

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Like the New York Yankees, the United States' tennis fortunes were at the top two years ago, then slipped a bit last season.

Now all of a sudden, everyone is beating them.

Beaten in the Davis Cup Challenge Round last year and eliminated by Spain in a startling decline last month, America's best tennis players had scarcely a glimmer of hope of winning their own National Championships in the tournament that opened on the historic grass courts at Forest Hills today.

The ebb in U.S. tennis prestige is illustrated by the seedings, with Dennis Ralston's No. 3 in men's the best of any American. But it is, perhaps, best pointed up by a key match that has caused considerable comment — some published but most muttered.

That one matched Arthur Ashe with Gene Scott on the grass court in the stadium tomorrow afternoon. The mild discontent rises from the fact that one of them must be eliminated — and with him one of this country's best chances.

Ashe, from Richmond, Va., is the No. 5 seed in the tourney and the hero of the U.S. conquest of Mexico in third round Davis Cup play, while Scott, from St. James, N.Y., is ranked fifth nationally and is one of this country's better grass court players.

Ralston, the 23-year-old Los Angeles ace who ranks as this country's best, has had very little grass court work since the Davis Cup match against Spain and could be at a disadvantage against Jim Hobson of Fullerton, Calif. in today's first round match.

Ralston split in two singles matches and was only the losing doubles team against Spain, played on clay courts at Barcelona.

Roy Emerson of Australia, already winner of the Australian and Wimbledon crowns, is heavily favored in his quest of a third Forest Hills title, a feat accomplished only by Bill Tilden and Britain's Fred Perry.

Emerson, generally regarded as the world's best amateur player and the tourney's top doesn't go into action until tomorrow against Eduardo Zuleta of Ecuador.

Probably the top match today had Fred Stolle of Australia, beaten finalist last year and the No. 2 seed, going against Butch Newman of San Antonio, Tex., a highly regarded member of the U.S. Junior Davis Cup team.

Others included 1963 champion Rafael Osuna of Mexico against Brenton Higgins of Australia and Ronald Barnes of Brazil vs. Los Angeles' Robert Lutz.

In women's play, Brazil's Maria Bueno, a three-time winner including the last two, opens against Anne Bedard of Canada. She is seeded No. 2 behind Australia's Margaret Smith, who doesn't get into action until Sunday.

The tourney runs through Sept. 12.

Chisox, Twins Start Big Series

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Is there anything more frustrating for a manager to watch than 16 runners left on base in a one-run ball game?

Try having one of his top sluggers strike out five times.

Sam Mele was a captive audience for both those spectacles last night as his American League-leading Minnesota Twins bowed to Detroit 5-4. The setback, combined with Chicago's doubleheader sweep at Baltimore, trimmed the Twins' lead to 6½ games with the White Sox opening a three-game series in Minnesota tonight.

Bob Allison personified Minnesota's futility by striking out five times, tying a major league record.

"It's hard to understand," Allison said later. "I can't explain it. Believe me, nobody would like to see me get a few hits more than me."

One hit would have been enough last night. Allison was one of Minnesota's chief offenders, leaving five men stranded, as the Twins repeatedly surrounded Tiger starter Joe Sparma and two successors with base runners who never made it home.

Minnesota had the tying and winning runs on base in the ninth when Terry Fox finally retired Joe Nossek on a fly ball, ending the game.

Don Wert drove in four Tiger runs with a single and a homer as the Twins failed to take advantage of four Detroit errors and eight walks from Sparma.

George Thomas, who had four hits for the Tigers, didn't think the setback would hurt Minnesota's pennant express. "I think the Twins will win the pennant," he said. "I don't think Chicago has the momentum to catch them."

Thomas would have a rough time convincing Chicago skipper Al Lopez that his White Sox are out of it. The 5-3, 9-3 sweep of the Orioles gave Lopez' club 17 victories in the last 23 starts and a clear shot if it can beat the Twins this weekend.

J. C. Martin's two-out double in the ninth inning drove in the winning runs in the opener while home runs by Pete Ward, Floyd Robinson and Ken Berry did the job in the nightcap.

Ward, who had three hits and drove in three runs in the second game, snapped out of a 1-for-34 slump. Robinson also drove in three runs.

"That should be a shot in the arm for Pete," Lopez smiled. "He was really struggling."

Elsewhere in the American League, Washington edged Boston 5-4, Cleveland battered Kansas City 10-6 and New York ripped the Los Angeles Angels 8-1.

Bob Chance's pinch single in the eighth inning delivered the tying and winning runs for the Senators. Don Lock homered for Washington while Tony Conigliaro belted his 26th for the Red Sox.

Mickey Mantle drove in four runs and Whitey Ford beat Los Angeles for the ninth straight time as the Yankees romped. Mantle tapped a three-run homer in the first inning giving Ford, who pitched a four-hitter, a quick lead.

Rocky Colavito doubled home the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning and Fred Whitfield followed with a two-run single as the Indians topped Kansas City. Cleveland jumped off to a 6-0 lead but the Athletics rallied to tie it before the Indians came back for the victory.

A TEAR FALLS IN BROOKLYN—Baseball fans were sad all over New York, for Casey Stengel bade the big town farewell yesterday. Star outfielder for the Giants and Dodgers and manager of the Dodgers and Yankees, the grand old man retired this week as manager of the zany Mets. Yesterday he said goodbye to his players and then watched them from the relatively unfamiliar vantage point of the mezzanine box seats at Shea Stadium. Perhaps for old times' sake, the Mets bowed to Houston 4-3. (AP Wirephoto)

Big Slate Greets Yachtsmen

There probably won't be five boats moored in the entire Bay Area this weekend, judging from the long slate of activities planned.

It starts this evening at 6 when some 67 deep-sea powered sailing yachts head for Santa Cruz on the overnight Windjammers race. The race starts at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco. Each yacht is allowed to travel 24 of the 67 miles to Santa Cruz under power.

Meanwhile regattas of several shapes and sizes will be held in various portions of the Bay. Tomorrow the Sausalito Yacht Club regatta from Sausalito to Coyote Point will lure about 100 boats out, and the next day will see the Coyote Y. C. Barth Trophy race from Coyote to Knox Buot at Angel Island. Both events start at noon.

As a prelude to the world championship International class regatta next week between Angel Island and Richmond, a series of races among European and American crews will be held at 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. tomorrow. Four crews from the U.S. will challenge four from the Continent.

Regattas are also slated for the Pacific Coast championship in 505, Blue Jay and Day Sailor classes at Palo Alto and for the El Toro class at Lake Merritt in Oakland over the next three days.

Finally, the Northern California Power Cruiser Assn. will hold its annual State Fair Championship over-the-botton race from Steamboat Slough to Sacramento starting at 9:30 a.m. Sunday. The course is 20 miles long.

Hightower Files For Bankruptcy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Professional basketball player Wayne Hightower, who said he earned $12,500 last year, has filed for bankruptcy, listing assets of $255 and debts of $51,475.

Among the debts listed in U.S. District Court yesterday by the 6-foot 9-inch cager is $9,800 for three cars he purchased.

Hightower was sold to the Baltimore Bullets last February by the San Francisco Warriors. He lives in San Francisco.

He said he also owes money to finance companies, hotels, clothing stores, doctors, hospitals, attorneys and car rental agencies.

MRS. STENGEL THRILLED

Happy To Get Casey Back Home

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel's retirement will be a great loss to baseball and to the New York Mets but to Edna Stengel, it means she will have her famous husband more to herself from now on.

"I've never told Casey what to do," she said today. "But I'm pleased with his decision. It will be wonderful having him home during the summer."

Mrs. Stengel accompanied Casey to Shea Stadium yesterday when he made his farewell speech to the Mets players and participated in a ceremony in which his uniform — No. 37 — was officially retired.

Assisted by his black, crooked cane, Casey strode out to the mound and posed for photographers, occasionally discarding the cane and standing up under his own power.

"Casey can walk up and down stairs," Mrs. Stengel beamed proudly. "He walked across our apartment yesterday without his cane. But, of course, he's not supposed to."

It was doctor's orders that prompted Stengel's retirement as manager of the New York Mets last Monday. He suffered a broken hip in a fall July 25 that was his last day in uniform.

"Casey is remarkable," said Mrs. Stengel. "The doctor said he could never again get into a bathtub. But just the other day, he asked his nurse to prepare the bath and he got right into it.

"They said he'd never be able to walk again without a cane but I'm positive he will. And he won't even limp. He has the ambition to walk."

Mrs. Stengel said she and her husband planned to leave on Saturday for Kansas City to visit Casey's sister, Louise, who also suffered a fractured hip recently. From there they will proceed to Glendale, Calif.

"Our house is a two-story building with six rooms upstairs and eight downstairs, counting the den," she said. "I just know he'll be in every one of them.

"Some people, when they retire, play golf, go to the theatre or play cards. Casey has never adapted himself to those things. He prefers to sit in front of the television set, watching baseball and football games and golf matches. I think we'll have to have some more TV chairs. I just know he's going to wear out a few.

"Another thing I know. We have no room for a wheel chair around the house. Casey doesn't need any."

Mrs. Stengel said there will be a lot of work for Casey to do in the orchard.

"Our lot goes back 485 feet," she said. "It's about an acre and a quarter. There's plenty of room for him to walk around. We have plenty of fruit trees, orange, lemon, peach, avacado, tangerine and grapefruit. He's going to become an expert fruit picker."

There's also a swimming pool for Casey to splash around in.

"The doctor wants him at first to sit in the shallow water and exercise those legs," Edna said. "The swimming will come later."

Mrs. Stengel, who has been married to Casey for 40 years, said the nurse, who was in charge of her famous husband, would not accompany them on the trip home.

"I'll be his therapist when we get home," she said.

She sounded as though she couldn't wait.

Yank Golfers Start Play For Walker Cup

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Two young golfers on Great Britain's Walker Cup team, Clive Clark and Peter Townsend, remind Joe Carr of a pair of youthful U.S. amateurs six years ago.

"Their names were Jack Nicklaus and Dean Beman and they didn't hurt the Yanks a bit," recalled Carr, the British team captain.

Carr offered the comparison as one of the reasons he is so optimistic about his team's chance to take the Walker Cup from the Americans in the competition today and tomorrow.

Carr praised Clark and Townsend as outstanding golfers and noted they are about the same age as Nicklaus and Beman were in the 1959 Cup won 9-3 by the U.S. in Scotland. Clark is 20, Townsend 18 while Nicklaus was 19 and Beman 21.

Beman won the British Amateur that year, the U.S. Amateur the next year and in 1963 and is playing in his fourth straight Walker Cup. Nicklaus has become one of the game's greatest pros.

Clark went to the finals of both the British and English amateurs this year, and "that's quite an accomplishment for a 20-year-old," said Mike Bonallack who beat him in both.

Demonstrating his confidence in Townsend and Clark, Carr selected them to play both in the team matches and No. 5 in the singles of tomorrow's opening rounds.

Townsend, a student from St. Albans, Herts, England, gulped when his name was read out to oppose Billy Joe Patton, the 43-year-old veteran from Morganton, N.C., with four past Cup experiences.

Carr, who has played in a record nine straight cups, left himself off the first day's lineup.

As expected, Mike Bonallack, the British and English amateur champion, and Bill Campbell, the defending U.S. Amateur titleholder from Huntington, W.Va., are matched in the No. 1 singles.

Eight single matches of 18 holes will be played each afternoon. The mornings match four two-man teams and the captains may juggle their line-ups for the second times around the 6,810-yard par 70 Five Farms course.

The two-man teams alternate in hitting the same ball. A point is scored for the winner of each singles and doubles.

LEARNING HOW FROM A PRO

New Tamalpais High School football coach Willie Hector showed Tom Lecy how to attack the blocking dummy yesterday while other Indian players observed. Hector, a former Tam great who went on to play tackle for College of the Pacific, the Los Angeles Rams and the Denver Broncos, has 65 boys out for his team and doesn't plan on cutting any. "I don't go for cutting," he explained. "I was cut myself as a freshman. We've got enough equipment here for over a hundred boys and I'm going to let them use it." Tam's 1965 prospects will be examined next week in the I-J's yearly preseason series on Marin high school football. (I-J photo)

Namath Flounders Again

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Jets' great experiment has ended its laboratory phase with no conclusive results and one frightening possibility...the Jets may have a $400,000 telephone operator on their hands.

Joe Namath, the penthouse-priced rookie quarterback, foundered again Thursday night as the Jets dropped a 31-10 decision to Buffalo's American Football League champions in the final pre-season tuneup for both clubs.

With Namath unable to make connections throughout the exhibition campaign — 22 completions in 74 attempts for five games — and the Sept. 12 season opener at Houston imminent, it appears certain Coach Weeb Ewbank will nominate Mike Taliaferro, odd man in the Jets' quarterback derby, as the No. 1 signal-caller.

That would leave the telephone from the Jets bench to the pressbox strategists in Namath's care — at least for the time being.

Taliaferro and Namath each worked one half against the rugged Bills — with John ($200,000) Huarte getting a brief shot near the finish. Taliaferro completed eight of 17 tosses for 162 yards. Namath missed on 13 of 17 pitches — including 11 straight in one stretch — but fired a 35-yard strike to Don Maynard, in the final period for New York's only touchdown.

The game was the prelude to a full weekend of activity in both the American and National Leagues.

The AFL winds up its exhibition scheduled tomorrow night with three games — San Diego vs. Houston at Little Rock, Ark., Boston at Kansas City and Denver vs. Oakland at Sacramento, Calif.

All 14 NFL clubs are in action, with tomorrow night's SRO doubleheader at Cleveland topping the card. The twin bill matches the league champion Browns against powerful Green Bay and the Detroit Lions against the New York Giants.

Minnesota and Dallas collide at Birmingham, Ala., while St. Louis is at Chicago in tonight's NFL games. Other pairings are Pittsburgh-San Francisco at Providence, R.I., tomorrow afternoon, Baltimore-Washington and Philadelphia at Los Angeles Sunday.

The Bills, winning their exhibition tilt in five starts, broke open a 3-3 battle midway in the second period when Charley Warner returned a kickoff 101 yards for a touchdown and Tom Day blocked a punt, recovered the ball and dove into the end zone for another.

Jack Kemp tossed scoring passes of 15 yards, to Glenn Bass, and 21 yards, to Charley Ferguson for a second-half cushion. Bass was knocked cold on his scoring play but regained consciousness before being sent to a hospital for treatment of a possible concussion.

Cleveland, unbeaten in four exhibitions, added defensive strength by acquiring pass-defender Erich Barnes in the three-cornered trade with Detroit and New York. The Packers are coming off a 20-17 upset loss to Dallas.

Earl Morrall, obtained from Detroit in the Barnes deal, starts for New York against his former Lion teammates in the other half of the Cleveland double bill. The Lions have dropped three in a row while the Giants are 1-2.

Minnesota puts a nine-game unbeaten streak in pre-season play — three this year — on the line against defense-minded Dallas. The Cowboys held the Packers to four field goals last week.

The Cardinals, who moved from Chicago to St. Louis five years ago, tackle the Bears in the renewal of the NFL's oldest rivalry. St. Louis has won one and tied one in three 1965 starts. The Bears, 2-1, whipped Los Angeles last week as rookie Gayle Sayers ran wild.

Confusion Appears In Fish-Game Regulations On Goose Hunting

STEVENS

There seems to be some confusion in the exact meaning of the regulations covering the seasons, and bag and possession limits of geese as released by the State Department of Fish and Game. The office of Jack Germain, information officer of the DFG, has seen fit to redefine the 1965-66 regulations, seasons and bag limits on geese as adopted last week by the F&G Commission

"The general statewide goose season will open Oct. 23 and extend through Jan. 9, 1966. Limits on geese will be six per day, six in possession, including not less than three snow geese and not more than three geese of the dark species."

THAT PARAGRAPH should cause no misunderstanding. You are only allowed three geese of the dark species, and can fill out your limit of six by knocking over three snow geese. However there is no limit restrictions on snow geese; you could take one dark goose and five snow geese, or you could kill six geese, all snows and be within the law. Just remember ONLY three of the dark birds.

In the paragraph on the Tule Lake area there could still be some misunderstanding. The regulations plainly state: "The bag limit in this area will be three geese per day." No confusion there, but the next line reads: "Except that the daily bag limit MAY BE INCREASED TO SIX PROVIDED THREE OR MORE ARE SNOW GEESE." It's hard to understand that.

AS FAR AS color is concerned, the only difference in the Tule Lake area and the general bag and possession limit apparently is that if you kill three snow geese or three of the dark species you are through for the day. But after that you may still keep on shooting, if you only kill snow geese. If you are good at mathematics maybe you can figure that out — what is the difference, or is there any difference between the Tule Lake goose hunting regulations and the "general" regulations?

THE BIG difference is not in bag or possession limits but in the opening day. In the Tule Lake area the season opens on Oct. 9 and runs through Jan. 6.

Let's turn to the fishing as it appears at the present. Generally speaking, striper striving has lapsed into the doldrums in practically all areas with the South Tower of the G.G. Bridge being kind to some of the anglers, and very unkind to others. Few fish have been caught in the Racoon Strait, off the Rock Pile, and in the upper San Pablo Bay, but it would be an exaggeration to even classify it as "spotty."

SALMON TROLLING has been somewhat better, at least the general average has been close to two salmon per rod, with one or two boats reporting fair to good luck. The Sea Horse had nine salmon to 20 pounds on Tuesday. Another boat working from Lee Anderson's Oakland bait shop, the Miss Dragnet, came in with six limits including one lunker that went 42 pounds. The Miss Dragnet worked the Point Reyes area. From Caruso's Sausalito Harbor the Gina Marie was reported taking 18 salmon to 25 pounds off Double Point. Most of the other boats averaged nearly two fish per rod.

Carl Bennett of Rodeo Marina reported bass fishing as spotty but 10 sturgeons were landed over the weekend. Lee Anderson reported the boat R.S.P. boating 10 bass to 15 pounds at the Rock Pile. Don Smith of Clear Lake Highlands rated black bass angling as not quite fair, catfishing night and day, fair to good and bluegills galore for the younguns.

Paradise Cove Clinches Title

Ron Koller hit a three-run homer and pitched the Paradise Cove Yacht Club to a 9-3 win over the Independent-Journal Best Sellers Wednesday night to clinch the San Rafael Recreation Dept. slow-pitch softball title with a 5-0 mark. The Harding Gophers won their game, 5-3 over Pepsi-Cola.

Perry's Delicatessen clipped Indian Valley 3-1 in fast-pitch action, while the Native Sons held off the Marines 8-6.

Patients At Mendocino Have Some Freedom

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — What we used to look upon as symptoms of chronic mental illness we now often find are symptoms of chronic institutionalization."

This was the statement of Dr. Ernest W. Klatte, superintendent of Mendocino state hospital and chief of medical services for the mental hospital near Ukiah.

OLD PROGRAM

From a tour of the facilities made recently by this writer, Klatte has worked to depart from the old program of institutions. The tour inlcuded visits to men's wards, young women's wards, and elderly women's wards.

The Mendocino hospital is the smallest of the state institutions. Its patients are also restricted to the mentally ill, and do not include the criminally insane, sexual psychopaths, mentally retarded, or persons under 16.

This partially may have explained why a look at the wards at Mendocino was not a depressing experience at all. It's no doubt true that the conducted tour may have been aimed at the least depressing of the many wards at Mendocino.

PATIENTS FREE

While the tour of newsmen and county supervisors was staged for the purpose of pointing up Mendocino's program of attempting to develop more cooperation and local services in the northern counties which it serves, the real thing which showed through was the Mendocino hospital operation itself.

Patients, for the most part, are free to move about the grounds. They furnish their own clothes, or the hospital furnishes them in some cases, but dress is individual.

The patients, a number of whom appeared before the touring group and then accompanied them on their tour of the facilities, all have opinions on how the hospital should be operated. In the army we would have called them guard house lawyers. At the Mendocino hospital, they encourage comments from the patients.

In fact, the PC's, privilege cards which enable patients to have the freedom of the grounds, are granted partially by a vote of the patients on the individual wards.

Much of the treatment at Mendocino involves the patients themselves, working with each other. If there was a disappointment in the trip, it was that the doctors did not provide more details on the treatment.

They mentioned that tranquilizer drugs provide a big part of the treatment for the mentally ill—they make the patient feel more comfortable, they make the hospital employees feel more comfortable with the patients.

Electro-shock therapy, once the boon of mental institutions now is used only at a minimum —never more than six to 12 patients. On the other hand, the one time.

The average population at Mendocino is just under 1,800 patients. On thee othter hand, the admission rate is about 2,200 a year. This might indicate that the doors revolve and there is a constant turnover.

Dr. Klatte said most of the people who arrive at Mendocino are persons who found they could not live with themselves, with their immediate associates or with society, or vice versa.

The hospital, he said, tries to calm them, and provide an environment in which they can straighten out their lives and begin to live with themselves.

For the portion of the patient population who are returned to society, their stay at Mendocino is relatively short. Klatte said this stay had been reduced from an average of 90 days five years ago to 40 days at present.

This shorter stay is an intensional purpose because it has been found that the longer stays make it more difficult for the patient to return to society successfully. For one thing, there is the normal "closure" of the family which, once it has lived without the patient, no longer regards him as a member of the family.

For the tradesman, his stay in the hospital leaves him out of touch with changes in his work or technoiogical advances.

Cathy Henshillwood Becomes Bride

The Novato Presbyterian Church was the setting Saturday for the wedding of Cathy Sue Henshillwood and Allen James Anderson.

Cathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Henshillwood and Allen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen F. Anderson of Petaluma.

The Rev. C. M. Croughan performed the ceremony as the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Cathy wore a street length gown of white lace over satin. Francine Van Vrankin of Sonoma, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a pink peau de soie dress. Valeria Witzel and Linda Pearson, both of Novato wore dresses of lime green peau de soie.

Douglas Simpson was best man for the bridegroom and ushers were Jerry Roberts of Santa Rosa and brother of the bride, Robert (Biff) K. Henshillwood Jr.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents and the couple went on a wedding trip to Lake County. They will reside in San Rafael.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and is now attending Bay City College of Dental and Medical Assistants. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Johnson of Novato and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Henshillwood of Shaker Heights, Ohio.

The bridegroom was graduated from Novato High School and attended College of Marin. He is the brother of Lee Ann Anderson of Petaluma. He is a guard at San Quentin.

Stephanie Sullivan Bride Of William Grant Simmons

Stephanie Sullivan of Mill Valley became the bride of William Graham Simmons of Belvedere on Aug. 28 in a garden ceremony at the home of family friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Richards in San Rafael.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Dean Jr. of Mill Valley, was given in marriage by her grandfather, Henry J. Dean of Oakland, in a double ring ceremony performed at 2 p.m. by the Rev. L. A. White.

When Stephanie and William, who is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Bradford Simmons of Belvedere, exchanged vows, she was wearing a full length Empire gown of white crepe.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Brian McQueen of Novato, wore a full length Empire gown of avocado green crepe. Dressed in short white pique dresses were the junior bridesmaid, Stephanie's sister Gretchen, and the flower girl, her sister Heidi.

Brian McQueen of Novato served as best man.

After a reception held in the garden following the ceremony the couple left for a honeymoon at Feather River Inn. They will live in Marysville while William continues his studies at Yuba City College. He is a graduate of Redwood High School. His brothers are Judd and George Simmons of Belvedere.

The bride is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and attended the College of Marin. She has a brother, Guy Sullivan.

Juror For Sausalito's Fair Credited With Its Success

When Maggie Hazell-Rosen of Strawberry acts as a juror for the Sausalito Art Fair this weekend, she'll be returning to an event that is closely linked with her discovery of Marin.

It was just a few years after she moved to Sausalito in 1954 that Maggie became deeply involved in reviving the fair, which had been originated by a group of artists and then allowed to lapse. Due to the efforts of Maggie, potter Mary Lindheim and others, the fair has now become an awaited yearly event which, under Chamber of Commerce sponsorship, this Saturday, Sunday and Monday will have 115 artists displaying their work.

VANCOUVER BORN, Mrs. Rosen studied at Vancouver Art School, then California School of Fine Arts (now San Francisco Art Institute), and the Hassel Smith School. A highly successful portrait painter, she has abandoned realism completely. "SFAI classifies me as an 'abstract expressionist'," she says. "I began to feel in the portrait painting that I was just copying and not expressing myself." Today her work is included in numerous private collections, including that of John Bolles, architect and gallery owner.

NEWLY ELECTED as president of the San Francisco Women Artists, a group with 500 members, Maggie has had numerous one man shows, and has been included in such group shows as the California Palace of the Legion of Honor "Winter Invitational" and the SFAI Art Bank.

In 1963 she married Herbert Rosen, director of the International Institute, an agency dealing with the problems of foreign born people in the U.S. They live at 240 E. Strawberry Dr. with her two children from a former marriage, Deborah, 17, a student at Tamalpais High School, and Mark, 20, who attends College of Marin.

She is a member of the Marin Society of Artists, and last year was a juror for the Northgate Show. Maggie says she paints in the garage "where the light is lousy and I have to take 'em outside to see what they look like!"

But despite all her other activities, she does paint, and this weekend, with Ned Pankin of Sausalito and Dennis Beall of Sausalito and Dennis Beall of San Anselmo, she'll be awarding over $500 in prizes, based on a lifetime of art knowledge.

ARTIST Maggie Hazell-Rosen of Strawberry gave up portrait painting for abstract expressionism as shown in several examples of her work. She paints in the garage where "the light is lousy" and she has to take them outside to see what they look like . . . The artist will be a juror for the three day art show opening tomorrow in Sausalito.

Father Surprises Daughter On Her Return From Europe

By MOLLY MARIN

When Beryl Knauth arrived in New York after a summer spent touring Europe, her father, Basil Knauth of Belvedere, was at the airport to meet her plane. The meeting was a happy surprise for Beryl, who had no idea that her father was to be in the East at that time. Basil had gone to New York to attend to some family business matters. He arranged to conclude his business before Beryl's arrival and had made reservations for them both to fly back to California together. Earlier this summer Rose and Basil Knauth and their other daughter, Natalie, enjoyed an extended stay in Hawaii, making Kauai their headquarters. After their daughters return to the University of California for the fall semester, their parents are leaving for a European trip.

THE MEADOW CLUB was the setting for the luncheon honoring San Francisco debutante Judith Menzies, given Tuesday by Sally Shea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stevens Shea of the Reedlands, Tiburon. Invited to the luncheon were Judith Menzies' houseguest, Jane Latta of Honolulu, who is staying with the Menzies until Judith's debut in December; Vickie Cooke and Deborah Allen, both of Tiburon; Nancy Muir of Larkspur, Joan Baron of San Francisco, Sue Solinsky of Kentfield, Gerry Misner of San Anselmo and Fran Young of Corte Madera.

Sally, whose family moved from the East to Tiburon two years ago, was invited two years ago to make her debut with the New York Cotillion at the Waldorf Astoria this December, but moving to Tiburon changed the plans.

GAY GRISWOLD of Belvedere, who will become the bride of Michael Mason of Warren, Ariz., in Tucson Sept. 11, was honored at a dinner party given by Dr. and Mrs. Edward Sargent and Dr. and Mrs. Theodore McCarthy last Friday at the Sargent home in Terra Linda. Betsy Sargent assisted her parents and the McCarthys in welcoming guests, who included the future bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tudor Griswold II of Belvedere; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grandin of Ross, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Convis of San Rafael. Susan Solinsky of Ross will be Gay's maid of honor. Loren Vogel of Belvedere will be traveling to Arizona for the nuptials and will be an usher at the ceremonies at St. Philip in the Hills Episcopal Church in Tucson. Mr. and Mrs. Grandin are also planning to attend the wedding.

THE RICHARD DUFFS of Kentfield are grandparents of a little girl, born to Mr. and Mrs. Victor Carter II (Diana Duff) of San Francisco. The baby, who has been named Cynthia, has a brother, Victor Carter Duff III.

MRS. H. EDWARD McKINNEY of San Rafael left this morning for Honolulu to spend a short visit with her husband, who is returning from a three-year stay at Kwajalein test site for NIKE missiles in the Marshall Islands. They will stay at Waikiki over the holiday weekend and return to Marin early next week. Guild Membership Drive Is Underway

The Symphony Guild of Marin's annual membership drive began the first of September this year, announces drive chairman Mrs. Andrew Halley of Tiburon.

Initial mailings to members will be made then followed by telephone and personal call campaigns lsated to end the drive in mid-October with a new member tea.

Guild president Mrs. Walter Baird and Mrs. Halley described last year's season as the most successful in this history of the organization. The symphony also presented its first major concert in San Francisco to critical acclaim.

"In spite of this very successful season," Mrs. Baird said, "we still need widespread community support to expand the many programs we sponsor, such as Music for Minors, the Marin Youth Orchestra and the guild scholarships."

This year's concert season will begin Dec. 12 and conclude in May with a full scale opera, which will be a West Coast premiere.

SEXUAL REVOLUTION

Sociologists Differ In The Morals On College Campuses

EDITOR'S NOTE: Sociologists differ on the deterioration of morals on the American college campuses. So do the students. This report, second of five, explores the subject.

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

Coeds seeking birth control information or a pregnancy test find both available at the student health centers of an increasing number of colleges.

They are among a growing group of collegians experiencing something not officially condoned but nevertheless happening when sex and the student mix.

At Harvard and Radcliffe, visits between the sexes in student residence are permitted.

At spring vacation time and on weekends, collegiate couples can go to a motel or a stretch of beach. Or it may be a car at a drive-in movie. Students find themselves involved — by design or accident.

"STUDENTS WANT to work out their own moral code and want to get away from restrictions and rules established by an earlier generation," says Werner Bundschuh, editor of the Boston University News.

At B. U., students are seeking more freedom in visiting hours between the sexes in dormitories and fraternity and sorority houses. The pressure for such change is felt in many other colleges.

Walter Whittaker, student journalist on the West Virginia University paper, in a survey, found that sex at that school is a fact of life.

"Basically, students agree that there are about three main reasons why students have premarital intercourse," he reported.

The reasons: Physical desire; to show adults you are going to do exactly what you want to do, regardless of what they think; to release tensions.

"They tell us Kinsey and others report that sex is more frequent and that everybody does it," one student commented.

BUT AS SOCIOLOGISTS differ on the subject, Whittaker, too, found two sides to the student views.

"Sex drives are no higher today than they have ever been," a student noted. Another put it this way—"Let's be realistic—there are just too many things in college to have your mind preoccupied with sex."

OFFICIAL OPINIONS differ on the state of morals on the campus. "No sex revolution is sweeping the American campus and there's been no decline in student morality," maintains Dr. Nevitt Sanford, professor of education and psychology at Stanford University.

The Rev. Arthur Kinsolving, rector of St. James' Church, New York City, disagrees.

"As a Christian minister standing in the Protestant tradition . . . it seems to me that there can be no doubt that there has been a setback in sex morality on American campuses," Kinsolving says.

Sanford and Kinsolving stated their views in the Journal of the National Education Assn.

SANFORD MADE these additional points:

It appears that there has been no revolutionary change in the rates of premarital relations since the 1920s. It is the girls involved in serious relationships who comprise the bulk of those appearing at birth control clinics.

During the past 12 years, he and his colleagues have studied students at one eastern women's college, at a western state university, and at a western private university. They found between 20 to 30 per cent of the women in the samples had sexual experience prior to graduation.

The Rev. Kinsolving supports his views of a breakdown in morals on campus by noting:

GROWING EVIDENCE shows college authorities, chaplains, parents and thoughtful students are concerned about the rapid breakdown of moral standards. Though authorities are tempted to sweep the evidence under the rug, candid revelations of concern have come from Harvard, Vassar, the University of Virginia and many other quarters.

The collegians who fill the Florida and California beaches at vacation time are not the only defiant ones. Students of standing flout authority, as in the case where male and female students of one university signed up at a university hotel for rooms together, daring the administration to take action.

"INDEED, SHOULD THE trend be stepped up for another decade," Kinsolving said, "it could spell the degeneration of our stock and destroy our capacity to meet the unprecedented challenges of leadership in our critical world.

"Yet, have we not all together an enormous stake in recovering in American culture a sense of sanity about sex, and an awareness of its sacredness?"

NEXT: Parents take the stand.

Ron Quilici of San Rafael served the bridegroom as best man and ushering guests to their seats were Edward Coker of Novato, Teddy Dobbie of San Rafael, the bride's brother, and Steve and Robert Nicol of San Rafael.

A reception followed the ceremony at the San Rafael Improvement Club.

The bride was graduated from San Rafael High School and the California Dental Nurses College. Janet Keller of Burlingame and Joan Coker of Novato are her sisters. Mrs. Harry J. Rogers of San Francisco and the late Mr. Rogers are her grandparents.

The bridegroom, son of Jack Bockrath of San Francisco, was graduated from San Rafael High School. Paul Rossi of San Rafael is his brother and he is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Victor McKinnon of San Rafael.

Following a wedding trip to Santa Monica, the couple will reside in Novato.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Among the hardy pioneers who first settled in Marin County and contributed to its growth, none faced greater obstacles than those who made their home in the Tomales area. Claim-jumpers and reoccurring fires were just two of the hardships that confronted them. Independent-Journal Historian Florence Donnelly tells the story of these plucky people who first settled northwest Marin in tomorrow's issue of the I-J's weekend supplement.

Marin County has made a major contribution of its talented young people to the Peace Corps program. Among these young Marinites serving their country and humanity abroad is Orville F. Grimes Jr. of San Rafael. In tomorrow's Marin Magazine, he tells something of what it is like to teach in a school in the coastal city of Safi in Morocco. It is a far different kind of school from those to which Marinites are accustomed.

Superstition Still Thrives Among Hong Kong's Chinese

By DORIS RICH
Worldwide Press Service

HONG KONG—While Communist China tries to wipe out superstition on the mainland, it still thrives among the Chinese in this British Crown Colony.

Millions of Chinese believe in fortune telling, geomancy, and exorcism. They worship their ancestors and multiple gods. They paint eyes on their boats to make them "see."

Unless some law is broken in the process, British authorities do not interfere with what are considered personal beliefs.

A Thanksgiving service for the recovery of two policemen, shot by six armed men, was held recently in the basement of a government courthouse. The policemen taking part lit joss sticks before an altar erected to "Kwan Tai." This is the holy name for Kwan Yu, a great Chinese general of the second century. He is the patron saint of policemen and soldiers, and was regarded as the God of War by pre-Communist Chinese military men.

British police officials say that respect paid to "Kwan Tai" is a symbol of loyalty, gallantry and fraternity among detectives and police constables.

Hong Kong's fortune tellers always do a brisk business. Some read palms. Others shake up a little box of sticks and throw them on a table, reading the results.

At the reclamation center on Hong Kong's waterfront, a fortune-teller places envelopes on the sidewalk, then releases a little bird from a cage. The bird picks up one of the envelopes. The customer opens it and reads it and reads his fortune.

On Cheung Chau Island, in the Colony's harbor, villagers eat only vegetarian food during the annual Bun Festival. This festival is to placate avenging spirits of people tortured and murdered by pirates.

Thousands of Hong Kong's factory girls pray to the Weaving Maiden for a good husband. They worship at midnight on the seventh day of the seventh moon, during Chi Hsi, the Lovers' Festival.

Not all of these superstitious practices are harmless. A Chinese Christian minister recently rescued a seven-year-old boy from cruel treatment by his own mother. When the Rev. Richard Tsang found him, his mother was dragging him along the roadside, hitting him over the head with a heavy bamboo cane. An iron dog chain was fastened to his ankle. The boy was too weak to cry out.

The mother explained that her son had been cursed by the ghost of her husband who had been killed in a motorcycle accident. She believed that if she beat her son, the ghost would run away and the bad luck she had suffered through the loss of the family breadwinner would end.

The boy had been four months old when his father died. His mother was still beating the ghost out of him six years later.

Another Chinese belief which brings headaches to government authorities is Fung Shui or geomancy. Those who believe in it say that bad luck will befall present and future generations of persons in buildings which are "blocked" and graves which are overshadowed.

In a block of modern skyscrapers in downtown Victoria, one modern, air-conditioned shop has a door which is set at a 45-degree angle from the shop front. A Chinese friend told this correspondent that the owner had called in a geomancer soon after the shop had opened because business was bad. The geomancer had explained that the trouble was that the Fung Shui was wrong. A wall was cut back, a new foyer built, and the door frame set at an angle.

The shop is now prospering, my friend reported.

Another Chinese friend told me she intended to rent a house near ours. But two weeks later she said she had changed her mind. Why? Because the Fung Shui was not good. This explained why the rent asked was so low.

The prospective tenant holds a masters degree from an American University, and she grinned when she gave me her explanation. "But I can't help it," she added. "I just wouldn't have felt comfortable there."

Mainland Chinese newspaper reports indicate that Peking is still fighting superstitious practices. Mainland Chinese are still not so very different from their relatives in Hong Kong.

Peking may need a lot of wind to blow out all those joss sticks.

Tycoon Too Broke For Marriage Fee

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—When multi-millionaire Walter S. Johnson, 80, went to city hall for the marriage ceremony uniting him with Margherita Dan, 61, a little thing like money almost gummed up the works.

Johnson, whose industrial fortune is estimated at $26 million, had to borrow $2 from his best man for the marriage license.

Texas Port Is Champ For Cotton Shipping

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI)—America's leading cotton port is not in the Deep South — it is Galveston, Tex., on the Gulf coast.

Galveston became Texas' first deep-water port in 1890. The port's activities grew steadily to rank it among the top few in grain car unloadings as well as a leading cotton port.

No Sentence In Drunk Case

Robert Waller Davison, 29, of 233 Evergreen Avenue, Homestead Valley, was given no sentence in Marin Municipal Court yesterday following his guilty plea to drunken driving on Jan. 24, 1964.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. said his judgment of no fine or suspension of driving privileges took into consideration that Davison was seriously injured in the one-car accident which resulted in the charge, and was hospitalized six months for treatment of a broken back and ribs.

Davison was arrested on Highway 101 by California Highway Patrol.

Zoology Professor To Talk On Birds

Dr. L. Richard Mewaldt, zoology professor at San Jose State College, will speak on "The Point Reyes Bird Observatory and the Migration of Birds" at the Marin Audubon Society's monthly meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m. next Friday in the county supervisors' chambers at Marin Civic Center.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Intensive Study Needed On Cause Of Increasing Traffic Accidents

VAN DELLEN

Motor vehicle accidents set a new record last year by taking the lives of approximately 48,000 persons. This broke the previous record set in 1963 (43,000) and if the epidemic continues we can expect another hike in 1965. The blame for this mounting toll is the increasing number of cars and drivers.

Everyone seems to know why accidents occur except authorities on the subject. Most of the current information is based on police accident reports. These are not considered reliable because most patrol officers cannot take the time to thoroughly investigate each crash. This would involve a survey of the entire scene with photographs, and a complete report on the condition of the car, nature of the injuries, driving conditions, sobriety, and discussions with the survivors and witnesses. It would have to be done in much the same way that civil aeronautics investigators examine plane crashes.

BUT IT CAN be done. Several universities and medical societies have projects along this line. A Harvard group found that a combination of factors, usually involving mechanical failures caused by improper maintenance, was frequently responsible. In more than 10 per cent there was evidence to suspect murder or suicide. Suspicious items include removed cotter pins and clamps, brake lines slashed through or hammered flat. Speed law violations and lack of courtesy were not significant causes.

Another study showed that more accidents happen on high grade roads in open country at 35 and fewer between 55 and 70 miles per hour.

Inadequate highway design plays a role. It is estimated that 8,000 lives will be saved when the federal interstate highway system is completed. Another 15,000 could be saved by wearing safety belts combined with shoulder straps. Reforms in automobile design centering about improved door latches and the steering column also will be helpful.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

CRAZY, MIXED UP IDEA

Mrs. E. J. writes: Is it true that a woman who is wearing fingernail polish at the time of an attack of coronary thrombosis will fail to respond to artificial respiration?

REPLY

This is the most garbled question I have received in a long time. Nail polish has nothing to do with breathing or heart attacks. Furthermore, artificial respiration seldom is needed in treating coronary thrombosis.

IN A DAZE

Mrs. G. writes: I feel so tired and dazed all the time I can't get my housework done. But the doctor says there is nothing wrong with me, What is the next step?

REPLY

Your physician means he can find nothing wrong physically. Fatigue often results from emotional problems ranging from boredom to the annoyance of a grumpy husband.

FIFTY, IF NEEDED

M. L. writes: Just how many X-rays are considered safe in a year?

REPLY

Fifty, if these were needed to diagnose a serious illness. The number taken is not as important as the area X-rayed and the dosage.

COPPER BAND

J. E. T. writes: Can you advise me regarding the wearing of a band of copper, similar to a bracelet, on the arm or ankle that would have a relieving effect upon arthritis?

REPLY

Yes, and you can read about it in any book on quackery.

EAR WAX

L. K. writes: Is there any way to decrease the amount of wax in the ears?

REPLY

No.

A WOUND

E.S. writes: What is a lesion?

REPLY

A wound, injury, circumscribed abnormality in the tissues, or areas of disease of the skin. A pimple is a lesion and so is a tumor of the breast.

FLOATERS

J.K.K. writes: What causes spots before the eyes?

REPLY

Floaters, consisting of cells or clumps of cells that are shed during infections; injury, or hemorrhage.

SHAVING PROBLEM

J. McK. writes: I am 28 years old and have sensitive skin. When I shave (electric razor or safety type) the facial hairs seem to be covered over a day or two later. If I shave three or four days in a row my face looks as though it was infected (like ingrown hairs). A menthol lather has not done any good. What do you suggest?

REPLY

Beards are popular.

MASSAGING THE TOES

T.D.S. writes: Does massaging the toes clear the sinuses? My husband was told that if he did this, his sinuses would clear.

REPLY

No, except perhaps when a person sits in a chair and massages his toes. The sinuses might drain better if he bends over to reach the feet. This is silly, but may be the grain of truth in many old wives' tales.

CIRCULATORY PROBLEM

D.R. writes: Is pain in the chest and arms related to pain in the legs on walking?

REPLY

Both may result from a circulatory disturbance. Pain in the chest, arms, and legs—brought on by walking and relieved by rest—may indicate narrowing of the arteries. This condition leads to an inadequate blood supply to the involved parts.

BATH ITCH

B.T. writes: Why does my skin start itching an hour after a bath?

REPLY

Dryness is the most common cause. Allergy to soap or to hot or cold water is another possibility.

Today's Health Hint—Be sure exits are always clear.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Here's Scorecard For Next Season

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — For those who keep hearing a persistent rumor to the effect that the new network television season will get underway Sept. 13, this is to confirm that it is true and that nothing can be done about it any more. Herewith, then, a final advance scorecard, easily disposable, of the new entertainment series that await the sportsmanlike American public:

Mondays: "Jesse James" (ABC), the title of which is reasonably explanatory. "Man Called Shenandoah" (ABC), the title of which is not. It is about an amnesiac (Robert Horton) who seeks his identity in a western setting. "The Steve Lawrence Show" (CBS) is a show which stars Steve Lawrence. "The John Forsythe Show" (NBC) is a show which stars John Forsythe. "Run For Your Life" (NBC), which concerns a fellow with a terminal illness who is trying to enjoy the time remaining to him.

Tuesdays: "F Troop" (ABC), a comedy western about a cavalry group. "My Mother The Car" (NBC), about a deceased mama (Ann Sothern) who returns to her married son as the voice of an old auto. "Please Don't Eat The Daisies" (NBC), the well-known suburban domestic comedy.

Wednesdays: "Gidget" (ABC), about a teen-age "surf bunny". "The Big Valley" (ABC), which stars Barbara Stanwyck. "Amos Burke — Secret Agent" (ABC); the rich cop is now a rich secret agent. "Lost in Space" (CBS), science-fiction about colonists to another planet. "Green Acres" (CBS), with Eddie Albert and Eva Gabor as a city couple who move to the country. "I Spy" (NBC), about two secret agents (Robert Culp and Bill Cosby) who roam the world pretending to be a tennis player and his trainer-companion.

Thursdays: "O.K. Crackerby" (ABC), with Burl Ives as a rich, uncouth fellow who hires a young man to teach his children how to be couth. "The Long, Hot Summer" (ABC), in which Edmond O'Brien and Ruth Roman star in a southern soap opera that is reported to be somewhat lusty. "The Thursday night movie" (CBS), which will offer stars of the silver screen. "Laredo" (NBC), a western about the Texas Rangers. "Mona McCluskey" (NBC), with Juliet Prowse sas a movie star married to an Air Force sergeant. "The Dean Martin Show" (NBC), a variety hour.

Fridays: "Tammy" (ABC), about a teen-age backwoods girl who works for a wealthy plantation owner. "Honey West" (ABC), with Anne Francis as a private eye. "The Wild, Wild West" (CBS), a combination western-spy series. "Hogan's Heroes" (CBS), comedy set in a German prisoner-of-war camp in World War II. "The Smothers Brothers Show" (CBS), with one of the brothers (Tom) as an apprentice angel, and the other (Dick) as a very much alive publishing executive who gets him out of trouble. "Camp Runamuck" (NBC), about a boys' camp and a girls' camp. "Hank" (NBC), about an unregistered college student who is determined to get an education. "Convoy" (NBC), wartime series about ships crossing the Atlantic. "Mr. Roberts" (NBC), based on the naval comedy.

Saturdays: "The Trials of O'Brien" (CBS), with Peter Falk as a very human, fallible and earthy lawyer. "The Loner" (CBS), a Lloyd Bridges western. "I Dream of Jeannie" (NBC), about a female genie who gives an astronaut a bad time. "Get Smart" (NBC), a secret agent spoof.

Sundays: "The F.B.I." (ABC), with Efrem Zimbalist Jr. in stories of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. "The Wackiest Ship in the Army" (NBC), about a leaky schooner pressed into secret missions in the Pacific in World War II.

MARIN FILM FARE

'She' On Motor Movies Screen; 'Shenandoah' At Rafael Theater

By LES DARD

Whatever your cinematic preference, you're likely to find something interesting in Marin area theaters this weekend:

MOTOR MOVIES

H. Rider Haggard's classic adventure - fantasy, "She," is now on screen, in its fourth filming.

Updated in this version from the 1880s to just after the first World War, the film still retains the tale's original flavor and should provide a springboard to success for the beautiful Ursula Andress, in her first lead role.

"She" is the tyrannical ruler of an ancient race hidden in the Mountains of the Moon who holds the secret of eternal youth. Convinced that a handsome English adventurer is the reincarnation of the lover she had slain 2,000 years before, the willful queen lures him and his little party to her fabled city.

In the end, she loses her eternal youth, but the young man gains it.

Opulent settings, grisly scenes and savage punishments are in abundance, but through it all, Haggard's views on the vanity of supreme power and the longing for eternal life are not lost.

John Richardson stars as the young Englishman. He is accompanied by Peter Cushing, Bernard Cribbins, Christopher Lee and Andre Moreil.

RAFAEL THEATER

Civil War action heightened by a fine, dramatic story is the bill with "Shenandoah," now playing.

Virginia farmer James Stewart and his six sons refuse to join neighbors in the war.

Finally his attempts at nonparticipation are shattered when his youngest boy is mistaken for a Confederate and captured by Union troops.

This starts a succession of violence and tragedy that is both fast-paced in its action and poignant in its heartbreaking moments.

Stewart fights for neither side, just to keep his family together, but in the end they suffer all the ravages of war they tried so hard to avoid.

Probably one of the best performances in James Stewart's career, fine color photography, and a topflight story make this worthwhile watching.

101 DRIVE-IN

The Beatles and "Help" have moved to this theater in a wild spree that even surpasses their previous hit, "A Hard Day's Night."

It's all a lark a—nd one the grownups might go for too.

SEQUOIA THEATER

That sometimes hilarious, sometimes slapstick new comedy, "What's New, Pussycat?" is now showing, starring Peter O'Toole and Peter Sellers.

Some of the many lovelies are Ursula Andress, Paula Prentiss, Romy Schneider and Capucine.

NOVATO THEATER

The newest Elizabeth Taylor-Richard Burton film—and quite an interesting adult entry — starts Sunday.

"The Sandpiper," has Burton delivering brilliantly as an Episcopal minister and head of a San Simeon boys school in which beatnik artist Liz enrolls her son.

Eva Marie Saint performs convincingly as Burton's loving wife.

PLAYHOUSE TIBURON

Now on screen is the three-part film "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," starring Sophia Loren and Marcello Mastroianni.

The co-feature is the delightful comedy — "Divorce—Italian Style."

LARK THEATER

Another Italian film is here—but of quite another sort. "Mondo Pazzo" means "crazy world" and that's what's displayed. The film is a successor to "Mondo Cane," and offers much the same menu of the world's eccentricities, vices, perversions, degradations, etc.

In short, it's not pretty. It is concerned with not virtues, but vulgarities.

There are about 40 different sequences, many of them downright disgusting.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Jane Fonda and Lee Marvin star in "Cat Ballou," a superlative spoof of the western, held over.

Every western cliche gets a thorough trouncing, and all the principals give excellent performances. The photography is great, the music is gay, the pace is fast and the result is hilarious fun that no one could help but enjoy.

FAIRFAX THEATER

William Wyler couples superb acting to a chilling story in "The Collector," a film that won't let itself be forgotten easily.

Terence Stamp plays a quietly insance clerk who puts into action one of his wildest fantasies.

As with his butterflies hobby, ly insane clerk, who puts into Eggar. There is no intent of harm or sex in his motives, he merely wants to have her, and to let her learn to love him.

This she cannot do, and in the terrific climax of the film, even he realizes it.

Sanitation Study Engineer Hired

San Rafael Sanitation District board yesterday hired engineer Daniel P. Coleman to make a study on costs of a proposed assessment district to provide sanitary sewers to homes in the Bret Harte area.
